CHARTER.

An Act to Incorporate the Baldwin Institute, of Middleburg, Cuyahoga County.

WHEREAS, Mr. John Baldwin, of Middleburg, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, has made a generous donation to the North Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, for the cause of education, consisting of land, and a suitable building thereon, for a seminary of learning ; and whereas, said conference having accepted the said donation, and intend establishing there an institution for the promotion of general education; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That, Thomas Thompson, William Runnells, Wesley J. Wells, William C. Peirce, Wesley Brock, Lorenzo Warner, Holden Dwight, John Baldwin, Alfred Holbrook, Lonson Brown, Horace F. Adams, Ancil J. Pope, and Isaac Ward, and their successors, be, and they are hereby created a body politic and corporate with perpetual succession, by the name and style of the Trustees of the Baldwin Institute ; that, by their corporate name aforesaid, they may contract and be contracted with, sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded in any court of competent jurisdiction, in any manner of action whatsoever, may have a common seal, may change or renew the same at pleasure, and shall hold their offices until their successors are appointed.

SEC. 2. That the successors of the above named trustees shall be appointed by the North Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, or by such conference of said church as may hereafter include said institution within its bounds.

SEC. 3. That said trustees and successors shall be capable of receiving, acquiring, and holding by gift, grant, purchase or otherwise, any real estate, real, personal or mixed, to the amount of three thousand dollars, of annual income, may sell, dispose of and convey the same, provided such property be not diverted from the express will of the donor.

SEC. 4. The said trustees shall have the power to establish an institution of learning, with a male and female department; elect all members of the faculty thereof, except the president or principal, who shall be appointed by the aforesaid conference; prescribe the course of study; make all rules, regulations and by-laws which they may deem expedient for the government of the said institution; and transact all business of said corporation; provided, the same be not inconsistent with the laws and constitution of this State or of the United States.

SEC. 5. A majority of the board of trustees, at any regularly called meeting, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

SEC. 6. The trustees shall have power to elect from their own number, a president, secretary and treasurer, who shall perform the duties severally pertaining to their offices.

SEC. 7. That any future legislature may alter or amend this act, provided that the title of any property acquired or conveyed under its provisions, shall not be affected thereby, nor diverted from the literary, scientific and benevolent purposes originally designed.

GIFTS AND BEQUESTS.

The foundation of nearly all of our Christian colleges has been laid by the benevolence of Christian people. There is perhaps no better way to promote the welfare of the Church, the State, and the individual, than by means of the schools and colleges which give sound training under distinctly Christian influences.

The rapid growth of Baldwin University within the past few years calls for increased liberality, especially from the churches and the conference which control and guide its affairs.

For the convenience of those who wish to make a devise or bequest of their property to Baldwin University, we append herewith a proper form :

IN THE NAME OF THE BENEVOLENT FATHER OF ALL.

I, A.....B....., of....., do make and publish this, my last will and testament, as follows :

Item First—I give and devise, etc.

Item Second—I give and devise to “THE TRUSTEES OF BALDWIN UNIVERSITY,” and its successors and assigns forever the following lands and tenements (description), in..... county, in the State of.....

Item Third—I give and bequeath to “THE TRUSTEES OF BALDWIN UNIVERSITY” the sum of.....dollars, to be paid by my executor out of my estate within.....months after my decease.

In testimony whereof, I hereto subscribe my name and affix my seal, thisday of....., A. D.....

{ Seal. }

A..... B.....

Signed and acknowledged by the above named A.....

ence; and signed by us in his presence, and at his request, as subscribing witnesses to the foregoing last will and testament at the date last aforesaid C..... D.....

LIFE ANNUITY.

The University desires to call especial attention to its Annuity Plan, which is a very desirable investment for those who wish to enjoy an income from their property during life, and to perpetuate their Christian influence and teaching after their death.

The University will receive money, stocks, bonds and other personal property, also productive real estate, and pay to the grantor or donor during life a reasonable annuity. Said annuity is paid in semi-annual installments, and is free from all taxes.

Fuller information can be obtained at any time by writing to the President of the University.

UNIVERSITY BUILDINGS.

We have a new campus with an area of about twenty acres, entirely removed from sight and sound of the quarries, in the center of the growing section of the village, and within ten minutes' walk of the railway station. The electric street railway between Berea and Cleveland passes in front of the campus. German Wallace College is only a few steps distant.

RECITATION HALL.

This building has attracted attention on account of its architectural beauty and adaptation to its purpose. It is constructed of Berea stone and has three stories above the basement. The wood work is of red oak, Georgia pine and cherry, all finely finished. The halls and stairways are conspicuous for their good taste. The building has seats in its nine classrooms for 400 students, and 230 seats in the Assembly room. The class-room seats are tablet chairs of the best and most comfortable style. The Assembly room seats are opera chairs finished in light mahogany.

THE PHILURA GOULD BALDWIN MEMORIAL LIBRARY.

This beautiful memorial building is a gift to the University by Mr. and Mrs. John Baldwin, Jr., in memory of their beloved daughter, Philura Gould Baldwin, who fell asleep March 6, 1892.

Miss Baldwin was not only a graduate of the University, but was the first librarian under its present organization, and by her intelligent and self-sacrificing labor, the library was brought to its present state of efficiency and value.

The plan for the building is worthy every way of its name and purpose. It has the chief merits of the best modern library buildings. Like the Recitation Hall, this building is constructed entirely of Berea stone. The basement story is arranged for the storage, packing and unpacking of books. The first floor is the library room proper, and has a capacity of from 30,000 to 50,000 volumes. Here will be found not only current periodicals and papers, but books of reference and other books that may be of use to students making special preparation in any department of study. The dimensions are about 41 by 66 feet. The interior finish is similar to that of the Recitation Hall. The rooms are abundantly lighted and tastefully finished.

LADIES' HALL.

Ladies' Hall is a fine edifice of Berea stone, with very pleasant and comfortable rooms. It is heated by steam. The basement story is occupied by the college dining hall.

Ladies' Hall offers a refined and comfortable home for the young women students of the University. The Preceptress gives her time to supervision, and the young women, whether in sickness or in health, receive thoughtful and sympathetic care.

ATHLETIC FIELD.

Ample grounds have been set apart on the new campus for base ball field, foot-ball field and tennis courts.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

LOCATION.

Berea, wherein Baldwin University is located, is a thriving and healthful village of three thousand inhabitants, in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, twelve miles southwest from the public square of Cleveland.

It is an educational center, having Baldwin University; German Wallace College, the foremost German college of the United States; the German Methodist Orphan Asylum; and superior public schools.

It is a village of religious tone and character, with representatives of the following denominations: Methodist Episcopal (English and German), Congregational, Protestant Episcopal, German Lutheran and Roman Catholic.

It is a local option village, there being no saloons within the village limits. The sentiment of the village is strongly in favor of the law now in force.

It is lighted by electric lights. It is connected with Cleveland by an electric street railway.

It is easy of access by means of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis, and the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railways. Passengers from Cleveland by electric line should take Cleveland and Berea street cars at Public Square, opposite the Soldiers' Monument. Cars leave at half-past every hour.

CO-EDUCATION.

From the opening of the institution in 1846, young men and young women have been admitted to all its departments on equal terms.

DEPARTMENTS.

I. The College of Liberal Arts—which has four courses of study :

1. The Classical Course.
2. The Philosophical Course.
3. The Scientific Course.
4. The Literary Course.

II. The Collegiate Preparatory Department.

III. The Business Department.

IV. The Art Department.

V. The Music Department.

VI. The Elocution Department.

RELIGION.

1. Baldwin University belongs to the North Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

2. Chapel services are held every school-day morning, and attendance is required. Attendance upon church services Sunday is required.

3. There is a Young Men's Christian Association which maintains social religious meetings every week. There is also a Young Women's Christian Association, whose work is parallel to that of the Young Men's Association.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are four Literary Societies in connection with the college, namely : The Phrenocosmian, the Philozetian, the Clionian, and the Alethean. The first two are for young men, and the last two for young women. They meet on Monday evening or Friday evening.

THE LIBRARY.

The Philura Gould Baldwin Memorial Library (a description of the building is given elsewhere) comprises many volumes well selected for uses of undergraduate students, while it possesses a considerable collection of more general character. The Dewey system of classification is used. The reading room is furnished with the best papers and magazines.

THE LABORATORIES.

The Chemical Laboratory is equipped with a complete outfit of chemicals and apparatus for work in general chemistry and qualitative analysis.

Each student is assigned a desk and performs his laboratory work individually, under the direction of the instructor.

The Biological Laboratory is supplied with Leitz microscopes, each having an Abbe condenser and an iris diaphragm and other accessories.

There is also a good microtome imported from Germany.

The material needed for study is furnished to the student.

THE GOVERNMENT.

The government of the College relies upon the good character of the students. Students who come as strangers should bring certificates of good moral character.

The Faculty will dismiss any student without notice to the parents, when in their judgment the welfare of the College requires such action.

THE COLLEGE YEAR.

All fees and board money are due in advance. Scholarships will not be accepted for business tuition, nor for normal, nor for any other class of instruction not strictly collegiate, nor leading thereto. Sons, daughters and wards of ministers of the gospel will be entitled to free scholarship, $1.50 per term.

ROOMS AND BOARDING.

Young men room in homes in the village, places of lodging and boarding being subject to the approval of the Faculty.

Whether in private families or in the halls of the College, students are held responsible for the proper care of furniture and other property.

Young women must room and board in Ladies' Hall, unless they room at the home of parents, guardians, or relatives, or unless their parents request, with sufficient reason, that they be permitted to room in the village.

Each student in Ladies' Hall is expected to furnish her own towels, napkins and napkin-ring, two sheets and two pillow cases, one pillow, one comfortable, one spread, and two teaspoons.

SUGGESTIONS TO NEW STUDENTS.

1. Arrive in Berea the day before the term opens.
2. The street car at the station passes in front of the College building. The conductors will, if asked, give new students needed information.
3. Persons desiring to be met at the station by some one connected with the College, should inform the President by letter of the time of their arrival.

COURSES OF STUDY.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to any department of the College must present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character. Those coming from other colleges must present a certificate of honorable dismissal, and give satisfactory evidence of being qualified for the classes which they purpose to enter.

1. The requirements for admission to the Freshman class are the studies of the Preparatory Department, or their equivalents.

2. Students from other colleges will be received on their certificates without examination, and be ranked upon showing of grades, independent of rank held in colleges from which they come.

3. A student from any good public school will receive credit on a certificate from his teacher, according to the nature and amount of work which he has done.

4. Application by a person not in residence, for admission to the senior class, must be made not later than the beginning of the college year in which the applicant desires to be graduated.

EXPLANATION OF COURSES.

Classes recite five days in a week, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays. There are no college exercises on Mondays, except Literary Society work.

The word "course" is used in two senses; in the first it denotes one of the four, Classical, Philosophical, Scientific, Literary, which lead to degrees. When used in this sense it will be printed with a capital letter. In the second it denotes one fourth of one year's work; as, a course in Mathematics means one study (as Algebra), pursued through the three terms of a college year. In this sense, a student takes four courses per year; as Latin, Greek, Mathematics, History.

The capital letters, A B C D E F G, are used to denote the courses in a given subject, if there be more than one course in that branch. The various courses will be exhibited in detail in the following pages. See page 26 and following.

If a person wishes to know, for example, what Latin D consists of, he must refer to the subject Latin, Page 35, where under Latin D he will find that in the fall term Horace's Odes and Epodes, in the winter Horace's Satires and Epistles, and in the spring Cicero's Cato Major and Lælius compose the course. Likewise any course in the tables can be ascertained by similar reference to the groups, beginning page 33.

The same explanations apply also to the Normal Courses. The requirement of a county certificate in the Normal work means that examination in Common School branches by county examiners must be passed as a condition for completion of the Normal course. A certificate from any county in Ohio will be accepted. Certificates from other states will be considered on their merits. Persons who have taken common school branches in the university and obtained a county certificate, may, upon application, receive a certificate from the university. Students who have completed the Normal course will receive a diploma.

Recitations in the Preparatory and Normal and College classes last fifty minutes, the remaining ten minutes of each hour being allowed for intermission.

Business Hours to be announced.

Figures 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 denote rooms in which recitations occur.

G. W. C. denotes recitations held in German Wallace College.

Students, except those in common branches, may not take more than four studies per term, though Music or Art may be taken in addition to those four. Students in Literary Course may take both Music and Art.

Students must obtain consent of faculty in order to be allowed to take out studies in absentia. The request must state the class to which the student belongs, and must name the studies to be thus taken. The amount of study thus to be taken must not exceed one fourth of that year's work: the student must take out in advance the ticket entitling to instruction and examinations; for each ticket he must pay $3.00. Time and place of taking the examination to be agreed upon by the applicant and professor in charge of the department to which the study belongs.

Students while in college may make up work by private study and private examination. The amount of work thus made up must not exceed one study per term. The student must at beginning of the term obtain consent of faculty to take work in this way.

As a rule, students must remain in college for any given term until their examinations have closed. Should circumstances require their leaving before examinations, a request to faculty should be made for privilege of private examination. If granted, the applicant must pay a fee of $1.00 to the professor or tutor conducting such examination.

Students are expected to pursue systematic courses in choosing electives. They should know in advance of their entering upon Junior year studies what they will elect. In order to make wise use of their privileges, students are entitled to seek advice from members of faculty. Unregulated choice will not be allowed.

In order to prevent confusion and defeat in carrying out elective courses, students should carefully consult the Recitation Schedule, to see whether all studies they propose to take can be taken without conflict, not only for a term, or a year, but also throughout the years through which the courses will run.

The Recitation Schedules are permanent. Two studies placed at the same hour cannot both be taken the same year. Alternations between classes will not be allowed. Therefore, choice of studies must always have reference to Recitation Schedules.

Departments of Instruction.

PHILOSOPHY.

PRESIDENT WARNER.

- 1897-8. D. (Freshman.)—In the fall term Hyde's Practical Ethics will be studied. In the winter term Ladd's Primer of Psychology. And in the spring term an introduction to metaphysics as given by St. George Mivart's "The Useful Science." This course, known as Philosophy D., will be required in the Freshman year in the Philosophical Course. It will be elective for any of the college classes of the Literary Course, and in Classical and Scientific Courses elective for Juniors and Seniors.
- 1898-9. E. (Sophomore.)—In the fall and winter terms the text-book used will be James's Briefer Course in Psychology, followed in the spring term with Metaphysics, Bowne. Reference books: McCosh's First and Fundamental Truths, Bradley's Appearance and Reality, Royce's Spirit of Modern Philosophy. This course is required of Sophomores in Philosophical Course, is elective for students in Literary Course in any college year, and elective for Juniors and Seniors in Classical and Scientific Courses.
- 1897-8. F. (Junior.)—Three terms, fall, winter and spring, devoted to obtaining a general historical outline of the entire field of Philosophical study. Reference books: Weber's History of Philosophy, Schwegler's History of Philosophy, George Henry Lewes's Biographical History of Philosophy, Windelband's History of Philosophy, Falckenberg's History of Modern Philosophy. Required in Junior year of Philosophical Course, elective for Juniors and Seniors in all other Courses, and for students of all years in the Literary Course.
- 1898-9. G. (Senior.)—Ethics is studied in the fall term. As a text-book, Hyslop's Elements of Ethics, or Mackenzie's Manual of Ethics will be used. References: Bowne's Principles of Ethics; Spencer's Data of Ethics; Muirhead's Elements of Ethics. In the winter term an outline study of Religions will be made, with special reference to the comparison of other religions with the Christian religion ; Text, Menzie's History of Religions. In the spring term, International Law, with Woolsey's as a text-book ; for reference, Wheaton. This course is required in Philosophical Course, Senior year ; is elective in any year of Literary Course, and in Junior and Senior years, of Classical and Scientific Courses.

PROFESSOR MATTISON.

- GA. (Senior.)—This is a special course, elective in all the Courses, in Junior and Senior years. In the fall term Jevons' Lessons in Logic ; in the winter term, Political Economy, Laughlin, supplemented by references to Newcomb, Perry, Ely, Walker and others. In Social Science, which is taught in the spring, Warner's American Charities will furnish the basis for the class's work, with references to the abundant literature of the subject in the library, selections at option of the teacher.

LATIN.

PROFESSOR MATTISON.

PROFESSOR RHODES.

- C. (Senior Preparatory.)—Plane and Solid Geometry, Wentworth. Fall term, books I-III; winter term, books IV-VI; spring term, books VII and VIII.
- D. (Freshman.)—Algebra and Trigonometry. Fall term, Wentworth's Higher Algebra to page 356; winter and spring terms, Plane and Spherical Trigonometry, Bowser's treatise.
- E. (Sophomore.)—Analytic Geometry and Algebraic Analysis. Fall term, Analytic Geometry, Wentworth; winter and spring terms, Algebraic Analysis.
- 1898-9. FA. (First Junior.)—Fall term, Differential Calculus; winter term, Integral Calculus; spring term, Differential Equations. Osborne's text-books will be used.
- 1897-8. FB. (Second Junior.)—Fall term, Theory of Equations, or Surveying; winter and spring terms, Young's General Astronomy.

THE NATURAL SCIENCES.

PROFESSOR SMITH.

MR. TAYLOR.

PROFESSOR BRAWN.

- B. (Middle Preparatory.)—Elements of Physics, fall and winter terms; Botany, spring term. Text in Physics: Elements of Physics—Carhart and Chute. Text in Botany: School and Field Botany—Gray.
- C. (Senior Preparatory.)—Physiology, fall term; Physical Geography, winter and spring terms. Text in Physiology: The Human Body (Briefer Course)—Martin. Text in Physical Geography—Appleton's.

In all the Courses of Study except Literary, wherein course C is omitted, these Preparatory courses in the Natural Sciences are prescribed.

- D. (Freshman.)—General Chemistry, fall and winter terms; Qualitative Analysis spring term. The qualitative chemical analysis will consist of laboratory work with instruction to the individual student. The Chemistry is taught by lectures, recitations and laboratory work. Reference text: Introduction to the Study of Chemistry—Remsen.

- E. (Sophomore.)—Zoölogy, fall term; Geology, winter and spring terms. The work in Zoölogy will be chiefly recitations with some lectures and anatomical demonstrations. Text: Comparative Zoölogy—Orton. Students in Zoölogy will be expected to have a knowledge of the elements of biology. Geology will be taught by lectures, field work and the study of specimens in the museum. References to required reading will be given. Reference text: Elements of Geology—Le Conte. Students in Geology will be expected to have a knowledge of the elements of botany and zoölogy.
- F. (Junior.)—Physics in the fall and winter terms; Biology in the spring term. The work in Biology will be chiefly lectures and laboratory work. Text in Physics: Ganot's Physics, translated by Atkinson, latest edition. Course F will be given only in alternate years. It will be given in the college year 1897-8.
- G. (Senior.)—Physiology, fall and winter terms; Botany, spring term. Text in Physiology: The Human Body (Advanced Course)—Martin. Students in Physiology will be expected to have a knowledge of general chemistry and of biology. The work in Botany will consist of the histology and physiology of plants and the analysis of some of the more difficult species. Course G will be given only in alternate years. It will be given in the college year 1898-9.

In the Scientific Course all of the courses in the Natural Sciences are prescribed. In the Classical and Philosophical Courses, Science courses D and E are prescribed; F and G are elective. In the Literary Course D is prescribed; E F G are elective.

GREEK.

PROFESSOR RIEMENSCHNEIDER.

PROFESSOR RHODES.

MR. CLARK.

- B. (Middle Preparatory.)—In the fall term the First Greek Book, White; the same continued through the winter term. 1897-8. EA. (First Sophomore History).—Introduction to the Middle Ages, in the fall term, with Emerton's text; in the winter term, Montgomery's History of France; and in the spring term, the same author's History of England.

1898-9. EB. (Second Sophomore History).—In the fall term, The Colonies, Thwaites; in the winter, Formation of the Union, Hart; in the Spring, American Politics, Johnston, and Wilson's Division and Reunion.

BIBLICAL AND THEOLOGICAL.

PROFESSOR F. S. HOYT.

[Of the courses offered below, three will be given during 1897-8, the choice to be made by students, with a view to accommodating the greatest number.]

Hebrew F.—In fall, winter and spring terms, three times a week, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, a course for beginners. Text-books: Harper's "Introductory Method and Manual," and the same author's "Elements of Hebrew." In connection with these books, selected chapters in Genesis will be studied. Elective for preachers in charge, and for ministerial candidates in their Junior or Senior year, and to count one course towards an academic degree. Students may elect this course or Hebrew G. for 1897-8; both will not be given in the same year.

Hebrew G.—In fall, winter and spring terms, selected portions of the Pentateuch and of the later historical books will be read, and especial attention given throughout to the acquisition of Hebrew vocabulary. Three times a week, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. Open to preachers in charge, and to ministerial candidates in their Junior or Senior year, and to count one course towards an academic degree. Students may elect this course or Hebrew F for 1897-8; both will not be given in the same year.

1897-8. Greek F.—In fall, winter and spring terms, three times a week, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, the gospels by Matthew and Mark and the Acts of the Apostles will be studied. Westcott & Hort's Greek New Testament the preferred text, and Thayer's the preferred Greek lexicon. Elective in Junior and Senior years for classical ministerial candidates; open for classical graduate students and persons who have completed two years of classical work, and to count one course towards a degree. Lists of approved commentaries will be given on application. The University Library affords many facilities for exegetical study, and to these each student will have free access.

1898-9. Greek G.—In fall, winter and spring terms, three times a week, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, the class will study the gospel by John and several of the shorter Pauline Epistles. Preferred text and lexicon same as above. Elective in Junior or Senior year for classical ministerial candidates, and to count one course towards a degree. Open to classical graduate students and to other persons who have completed two years of classical work. Omitted 1897-8.

- GB. In fall term, Christian Ethics, text, Paulus; in winter, Fisher's Grounds for Theistic and Christian Belief; in spring Beet's "Through Christ to God." Elective in Junior or Senior year to students in classical, philosophical or scientific Courses, three times a week, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, to count one course towards an academic degree.
- GC. Special course. In fall term, Homiletics, Phelps' Aids to Preaching; in winter, Moulton's Bible for English Readers, selections from Historical series; in spring, Ely's "Social Aspects of Christianity." Elective for Juniors and Seniors in any Course, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. To count one course towards a degree.
- GD. Homiletics, non-resident course for special students. Once in two weeks, Mondays. Open to ministers of any denomination and to others. Text, Phelps' Aids to Preaching. This Course will not be counted towards an academic degree.

BALDWIN UNIVERSITY MINISTERIAL ASSOCIATION.

This Association, under the presidency of Dr. Hoyt, was formed to enable students who are candidates for the ministry to obtain some direct training for this work. The exercises for the past year have been as follows: Book Reviews, sermons, addresses, informal advices by the president.

Following are the names of the members :

Dr. F. S. Hoyt, Pres.; H. C. Burr, Vice Pres.; A. C. Hoak, Secretary; I. F. Mott, Asst. Secretary; W. R. Reed, Treasurer; Dr. M. F. Warner, Rev. G. W. Huddleston, H. K. Hilberry, D. S. Carpenter, John J. Meiche, A. E. Williams, J. B. Jones, O. J. Shoop, J. B. Ruple, C. A. Heckelman, H. M. Fry, H. A. Shook, W. H. Oswalt, F. C. English, F. D. Draper, F. R. Lowry, Prof. A. M. Mattison.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

PROFESSOR WILKER.

GERMAN.

- B. (Middle Preparatory German.)—The fall and winter terms consist of Lessons and Grammar. In the spring term, Easy Reading is begun in connection with continued practice in Grammar. Required in Philosophical Course; elective in any year of Scientific and Literary; elective in Junior and Senior years in Classical Course.

- C. (Senior Preparatory German.)—In the fall term a modern story and Composition; in the winter term, a Modern Drama and Composition; in the spring term, Classical Drama and Composition. This course is required in the Philosophical Course; is elective in any year of the Literary and Scientific courses, and elective in the Junior and Senior years of the Classical.
- D. (Freshman German.)—In the fall term, Advanced Grammar in German; in the winter, German Rhetoric and Composition; in the spring term, German Literature in German. This course is required in the Philosophical Course, elective in Junior and Senior years of the Classical, and in any year of the Literary and Scientific courses.

From the beginning of the German courses throughout the three years, conversations and dictations in German are employed in the classroom. In the Freshman year, German D, German is used in the recitations as the only language of communication between professor and class. By varying the texts in German D, it will be possible for students to obtain four or even more years of German, if more than the prescribed amounts are desired.

FRENCH.

- B. (Middle Preparatory.)—In fall and winter terms, First Lessons and Grammar; in the spring, Grammar and Easy Reading. This course is required in the Scientific and Literary courses, and is elective in the Junior and Senior years as the Classical and Philosophical.
- C. (Senior Preparatory.)—In the fall term, Modern Story and Composition; in the winter, Classical Drama and Composition; in the spring, History of French Literature in French. It will be possible for students who desire to obtain more than two years of French to do so, by having Course C varied each year. Conversation and dictation throughout the whole of the above French courses. Course C is required of Literary and Scientific students, and is elective for Juniors and Seniors in the Classical and Philosophical courses.

NORMAL.

PROFESSORS BRAWN AND EDDY.

1st Year.—Instruction in the common branches will be given continually with regularity and system. An opportunity is thus afforded for those who desire to review studies for teachers' examinations; for those whose education for any cause is deficient in some or all branches of common school studies, who may wish to supply their lack under the very best conditions; for those who have entered upon one or the other of the courses of study, who may in addition desire to do more work in the common branches; also for those who wish to take the Normal Course. The studies are those upon which a person is examined for a teacher's common school certificate and no other.

Reading.—The Heart of Oak Series, No. IV. will be used, supplemented by readings of the best authors.

Writing.—The Spencerian system of writing, its principles and practice, will be taught. This course in writing will not aim at making the ornate penmanship of the professional penmanship schools, but at teaching right forms and improving the natural hand. It may be pursued for two years or even more if desired.

Spelling.—Spelling will be taught both by rules and by dictation and correction of lists.

Orthography.—Orthography will be so taught that a student entering at any term of the year will find the class at a point where he can advantageously begin.

Arithmetic.—Arithmetic will extend throughout the entire year. The text used will be White's. If practicable, during the year, additional texts may be used for those desiring to take advanced work in Arithmetic. A separate class for advanced students will be formed if necessary.

English Grammar.—The text used will be Reed and Kellogg's Lessons in Higher English. Any one, by beginning at the opening of the year, can master the study as rapidly as the class advances. Diagraming is taught in connection with the analysis of sentences.

United States History.—Fiske's History of the United States. This study will continue through the year, three recitations per week.

Civics.

Geography.—The Eclectic series of geographies are in use. This branch will cover the entire subject during the year, recitations twice each week.

Physiology.—In fall term, Martin's Human Body will be the text; in the winter the same study and same text will be begun again and the course repeated. By this means a student who wishes to do so can get Physiology either term, or can review it during the same year.

Theory and Practice.—In the fall term, DeGraff's School Room Guide will be the text; in the winter, Thring's Theory and Practice; in the spring, Baldwin's Applied Psychology. The texts are not specially related to each other, but each one contains instruction on the Theory and Practice of Teaching. Any one term of this work will suffice, and it will matter not much which of the terms is taken: hence a student can enter at any term. Likewise, if a student desire, he can take several terms of it, thereby gaining the advantage of suggestions from several texts, and the general review of the subject involved in studying two or three books.

SECOND YEAR.

PROFESSORS HALLEN AND EDDY.

- Mathematics B.*—In fall term, Wentworth's Higher Algebra to page 109; in the winter term, the same work is continued to page 207; in the spring, the same text is used, and work carried to page 277.
- 1897-8. History Ea.—In the fall term, Introduction to the Middle Ages, Emerton; in the winter, Montgomery's History of France; in the spring, Montgomery's History of England.
- 1898-9. History Eb.—In the fall term, the Colonies, Thwaites; in the winter, Formation of the Union, Hart; in the spring, American Politics, Johnston and Wilson's Division and Reunion. Students who spend more than one year at Normal work may take both courses.
- 1897-8. Pedagogy F.—In the fall and winter terms, Compayre's Lectures on Pedagogy; in the spring the same author's History of Pedagogy.
- 1898-9. Pedagogy G.—In the fall, Rosenkrantz's Philosophy of Education; in the winter, De Garmo's Essentials of Method, one-half term, and Rein's Outlines of Pedagogy, one-half term; in the spring, Browning's History of Educational Theories, one-half term, and William's History of Modern Education, one-half term. Students who spend two years in the Normal work may obtain both courses.

ELECTIVES.—For the completion of the Normal Course it is further required that a student take a course selected from some one of the courses of the university. The student has the privilege of choice among all, but must use his privilege under advice of the faculty or of a member of the faculty.

PEDAGOGY.

- 1897-8. F. (Junior).—The following courses are given in Pedagogy: In the fall and winter terms, Compayre's Lectures on Pedagogy, Part I; in the spring term, History of Pedagogy, by the same author. Either this Course or Course G is required in the Normal Course, while both F and G are open as electives to students of all courses in the College Department.

- 1898-9. G. (Senior).—In fall, Rosenkrantz's Philosophy of Education; in the winter, De Garmo's Essentials of Method, one-half term, and Rein's Outlines of Pedagogy, one-half term; in the spring, Browning's History of Educational Theories, one-half term, and William's History of Modern Education, one-half term. This course, or F, is required in Normal Course, and is open to students in all college courses as an elective. It will thus be possible for a student in any of the Courses to obtain two years of Pedagogy if desired.

BUSINESS.

WATSON I. TAYLOR.

Book-keeping.—The business transaction is made the basis of instruction, and the system is actual business from the start. The student draws up and handles, throughout the course, notes, bills, checks, and all other forms of paper in common use. He computes the interest from the note itself, and writes his entries after making actual business transactions. Thus he gains a preparation for business life as near to the actual experience of business life as can be obtained outside of the counting room itself. This work can be begun at any time in the school year, though it is better to begin with the term. We offer two courses of instruction in this work.

- I. The complete course. This includes Double and Single Entry, Special Column Journal, Commission, Partnership, Corporation and Banking. The course is divided into three nearly equal parts for the convenience of the student in making payments.
 - Part I. Ends with the Special-Column Journal.
 - Part II. Goes to General Merchandise Business.
 - Part III. Completes the work.
- II. Introductory course. This has been added for the benefit of those students who wish to gain enough insight into book-keeping to keep a private set of books. It will furnish a practical term's work for those young people from the country and the work-shop who have only a term at their disposal.

Commercial Arithmetic.—The effort of the instructor will be to make this course of practical benefit in the common problems of business life. Percentage and its applications to interest, true and bank discount, commission, etc.; equation of payments and mensuration will be some of the subjects treated. This course will be given daily during the winter term.

Correspondence.—We will introduce a special course in letter-writing, which is a practical and original “learning by doing” method of teaching a pupil to write plain business letters in correct form.

Commercial Law.—This course will be given to enable the pupil to become thoroughly familiar with the common laws of carrying on business, such as the laws of contracts, negotiable paper, interest and usury, agency, etc., etc. This course will be given in the fall term.

Typewriting.—The Smith Premier Typewriters are in use. The keyboard is universal, so that a person learning this machine can at once use the Remington, Caligraph, and, indeed, most others.

Stenography.—We are using Dement’s Pitmanic Shorthand, and instruction will be given in it throughout the year. Two terms of this art will qualify a student to act as private secretary to a man of business. The demand for stenographers is steadily on the increase, and a good stenographer is seldom without work, especially if he be a bookkeeper and can use the typewriter. This may be begun at the beginning of fall and winter terms.

Mechanical Drawing.—This work will require a knowledge of Geometry, and will consist of a series of accurately drawn plates covering methods of constructing plain figures, machine drawings, tinting, and the drawing of tracings for blue printing. The object will be to become familiar with the use of instruments, the training of the hand and eye, and the use of the scale in making and measuring drawings. This makes an excellent preparation for entrance to the technical school. Text, Morris.

Descriptive Geometry.—This course requires a knowledge of the former. It treats of Orthographic and Isometric projection, of points, planes and surfaces with their intersections, etc. The method of treatment is by demonstrations and accurately drawn plates. Text, MacCord. Mechanical Drawing and Descriptive Geometry constitute three terms' work.

Graduation in the Business School.—To obtain the diploma of the Business School of the University, a student must present passing grades in all the common school branches, (see Normal, First Year, page 26). If the candidate can present a county teacher's certificate, that will be preferred as evidence of the successful passing of the common school branches. If he does not, grades from teachers showing that he has passed these branches will be accepted, provided no one of the grades is lower than 60 in a scale of 100. Any of the branches of this kind not yet taken may be taken here in connection with Business Studies. Any one of the three terms in Theory and Practice will suffice.

Next, the student must complete four of the six courses as given above.

ELOCUTION.

JOHN G. SCORER, M. O.

1. Teachers' Course. Thorough training in Vocal Culture, Respiration, Principles of Orthoepy, Principles of Expression, English Grammar, Rhetoric, Principles of Gesture, Physical Culture, The Art of Fencing, Dramatic Reading and Recitation, Shakespeare, Shakespearean Grammar, Philosophy of the Voice, Science of English Verse, English Literature, Delsarte Philosophy, Bible and Hymn Reading, Dialect Readings and Character Impersonations.

This Course is designed to cover two terms of thirty private and thirty class lessons each, and is intended to fit pupils for teaching in public schools and colleges.

Pupils devoting their entire time to this work may take three private lessons per week; those taking regular college work, one lesson per week in addition to their college work.

This Course leads to the Degree of Bachelor of Science of Elocution.

2. Professional Course. Consists of the Teachers' Course and two additional terms of thirty private and thirty class lessons each. It takes further advanced training, is wider in its scope, more exhaustive in its details and more varied in its branches. This Course is intended to fit pupils for teaching and for public performances. Pupils are earnestly recommended to take this Course that they may secure the best results attainable. Total number of lessons in Course 240. This Course leads to the Degree of Bachelor of Elocution.
3. Ministerial Course. Aims to impart ease to the speaker in presence of an audience, to develop and purify the voice, rendering it clear, full, sympathetic and powerful. Special attention is given to reading of the Bible and Hymn Book, the Liturgy and Sermons. The complete Course consists of two terms, thirty private lessons each.
4. Speakers' Course. For lawyers, students and public speakers generally,—for all who desire to acquire a good form of oratorical address. Complete Course consists of two terms of thirty lessons each.
5. General Classes. Will be formed and conducted throughout the college year. All classes are free to students taking up private work.

For further information address the president or professor in charge.

Special catalogue of Elocution Department sent upon request.

HONORARY DEGREES.

The Degree of Doctor of Philosophy will not be conferred by this institution.

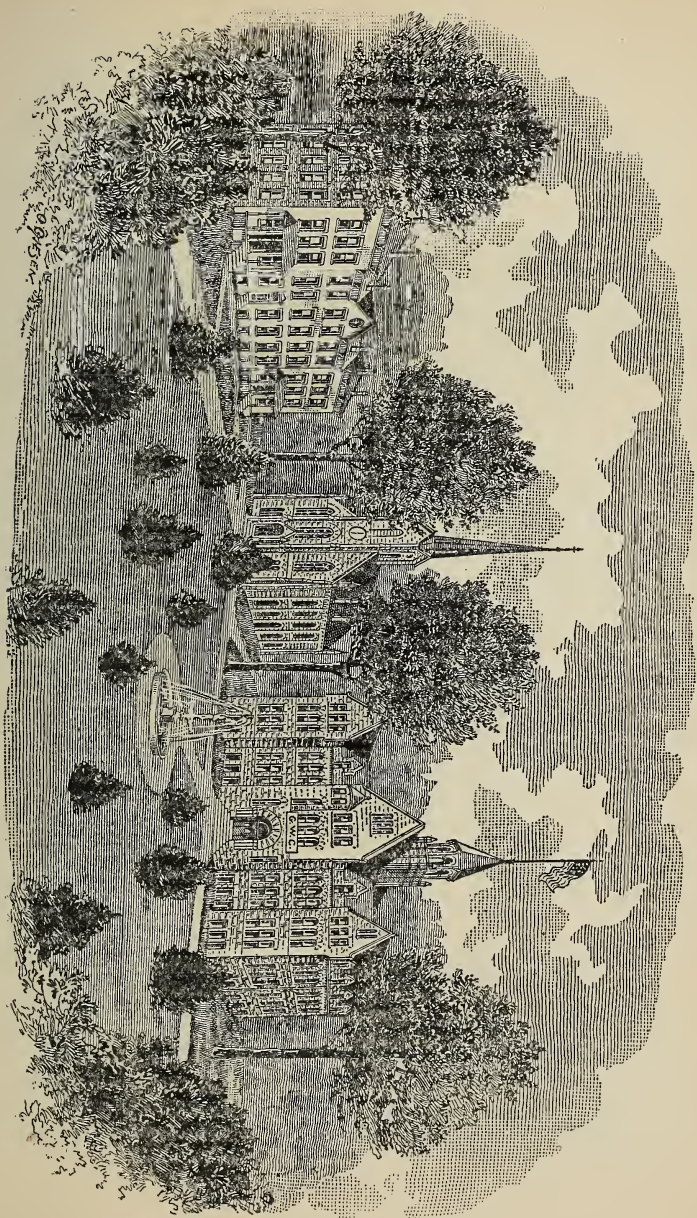

The Master's degree is conferred only in cursu, and on the following conditions:

1. That no person be deemed eligible to the Master's degree unless he be a regular graduate of a reputable college with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, of Science, of Philosophy, or of Letters.

2. That after graduation as a bachelor he be required to complete an advanced Course of study of one year in residence, pass a satisfactory examination, and present a thesis which shall give evidence of ability to prosecute independent investigation; or, if residence be impracticable, that he be required to pursue and complete a prescribed two years Course of study, in some one department, pass a satisfactory examination thereon, at the seat of the college, and present and maintain a thesis of at least four thousand words on some subject previously approved by the examiner, and connected with the Course of study.

The above conditions are those recommended by the College Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which were formally adopted by the faculty of this university as rules to govern in the cases named.

GERMAN WALLACE COLLEGE.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MUSIC.

M. F. WARNER.....PRESIDENT.

W. C. HOWELL.....DIRECTOR.

INSTRUCTORS.

MR. W. C. HOWELL,
Voice and Harmony.

MR. PAUL STROUP,
Piano and Organ.

MR. ERNEST NEWTON,
Violin and Mandolin and Viola.

PROFESSOR VICTOR WILKER,
French and German Languages.

STATEMENT.

The Baldwin University School of Music is fast becoming widely and favorably known as a school of sterling merit in the practical development of musical culture and technic. The courses of instruction represent the results of experience in every important institution of musical learning in the world. The instructors are all widely recognized as successful artists.

in their several departments, and bring before the student the authority and confidence of practical experience in class and concert room.

ADVANTAGES.

The nearness of Berea to Cleveland enables the student to hear all the great artists of the world. All the art resources of a great city like Cleveland can be made available for the training and culture of the students of the University.

SCHOOL CONCERTS.

Recitals are given by students of the school. A Quarterly Concert is given at the close of each term, and the Annual Concert at the close of the year. The systematic study of the works of a Master Composer, or of music of a particular period or class, for the purpose of public recital, incites the student to deeper interest and greater earnestness of purpose, as the inexhaustible wealth of material for possible conquest is systematically opened to view; and by no more efficient means may breadth of style and conception be nourished and increased.

PIANO.

Correct methods from the first lesson in piano playing are of the utmost importance. Early habits of study determine the capacity of the advanced player for good execution and artistic expression, and such habits can only be formed by the clear explanations, judicious corrections and good example of a skillful teacher.

The study of Piano-forte is one of the most important parts of a musical education. It is indispensable to the singer, as with a knowledge of the piano he can better arrive at the full meaning of a vocal composition. As a preparation to the study of Organ playing, it cannot be dispensed with. To students of composition, an acquaintance with the great works in Sonata form is absolutely necessary for the formation of style, and these can only be intelligently studied by the use of the piano. The best editions of the Studies used throughout the Piano Course have been carefully selected and placed in the Library of the School for the use of students. Piano students in order to graduate must have studied Harmony and Musical History.

VOICE CULTURE.

Voice training is given especial prominence and attention in this institution, particular care being taken to develop pure vowel sounds, and rich, resonant tones. The Course of Study is broad and comprehensive, giving every possible aid to the rapid and natural strengthening of the organs without forcing, and to the awakening of an artistic sense and poetic feeling in the expression of musical ideas.

The University's collection of Vocal studies is not surpassed in this country. These studies are supplied by the school Library upon payment of a small rental. In this way the students become acquainted with many valuable works without the great outlay necessary to their purchase. In addition to the Five Grades in the Vocal Course, the student is required to have studied Harmony three terms, Musical Expression two terms. Sight reading is given careful attention.

CHORAL CLASS.

The Choral Class is an organization of the students for instruction and drill in choral and church music. This class is under the direction of Professor W. C. Howell. The past year has been marked with unusual interest on the part of the students in vocal music. Whenever it is desired, classes will be formed for training in the elements of music. The expense connected with this class is merely nominal.

SPECIAL VOCAL CLASSES.

Young ladies' classes. When a sufficient number desire it classes will be formed in vocal instruction. The work will be of an elementary kind, and consist of instruction in formation of tones, in respiration, in articulation, in sight reading. Songs and duets will be studied. See Terms, page 21.

HARMONY.

What Grammar and Syntax are to language, Theory, Harmony, etc., are to Music. Without them broad musicianship is impossible, and this is the reason why no music school of repute will graduate pupils that have not acquired at least a reasonable knowledge of Harmony. The work will be pursued on broad lines. In connection with the text book, practical work will also be required.

ORCHESTRAL INSTRUMENTS.

A complete course of study, under teachers of the first rank, is provided for the Violin, the Flute, the Cornet, the Harp, the Guitar, the Zither and the Mandolin.

MUSICAL HISTORY.

Goethe says: "None understands a phenomenon, who is not penetrated by the process of its origination." This applies forcibly to the study of music. No one will fully comprehend the art or grasp the interpretation of art works in the different periods of history, who has not traced its historical development.

MUSICAL EXPRESSION

A careful study of the Theory of Musical Expression, based upon the principles formulated by Lussy and Christiani. This course is valuable to students in all branches, and proves highly interesting and profitable, showing results of marked improvements in the playing and singing of those who complete it. All students are required to study two terms of ten lessons.

PRACTICE.

Habits of regular practice must be observed in order to gain satisfactory results. The lesson hour becomes a useless waste of time and energy unless carefully prepared for.

Missed lessons will not be excused unless excuse is granted before the lesson hour.

DIPLOMAS.

Diplomas will be conferred on students who have pursued the prescribed course. It is required that an entire programme of standard music shall be interpreted during the last term of the senior year.

Fee, $5.00.

In addition to the study of voice or some special instrument, the prescribed studies are as follows :

1. Harmony.
2. Musical expression (two terms).
3. History of Music (two terms).
4. Quartette, or Choral Training, sufficient to enable the student to take charge of a choir or choral organization and successfully direct their practice and musical service.

Vocal students must have mastered the Piano Course through the third grade to enable them to play accompaniments and to pursue higher theoretical studies.

CONCERTS AND RECITALS.

There will be a concert given at the end of each term, and public and private recitals by the students during each term.

CERTIFICATES.

Certificates are conferred on vocal or instrumental students who have reached the third grade of study.

Fee, $1.00.

Advanced students who do not wish to take a full course will be given a certificate. Such students must have attended three consecutive terms. Two terms in Harmony and one term in Musical Expression must be included in this course, except in cases of unusual proficiency.

Following is a partial list of Vocal Studies:

Sieber,	Lamperti,	Alary,
Paneron,	Bordogni,	Cherubini,
Paufolka,	Abt,	Rubini,
Nava,	Vaccia,	Prota,
Marchesi,	Domorean,	Brambilla,
Lablache,	Teschner,	Ronconi,
Concone,	Bordese,	Savinelli.

These studies are graded from the first to the fifth grade.

VIOLIN AND VIOLA.

No instrument is so well adapted to the expression of every shade of feeling as the violin.

This school not only strives to attain technical proficiency but broad musicianship as well.

The course of study is the Herman System. This system is used in the celebrated Royal Conservatory at Leipsic. The course is varied according to the personal needs of each student. Great care is used in the instruction of beginners.

Classes will be formed in ensemble playing and opportunities given to sufficiently advanced pupils for orchestral practice.

For advanced pupils the Etudes of Krenjer, Forillo, Rhode, Gavines, Danclo, Alard and David are used, together with such concert pieces as are adapted for each individual.

MANDOLIN.

This is fast becoming an attractive and popular instrument for which the most modern and practical methods are used.

FINE ARTS.

ALBERTA E. JAMES, Instructor.

1. Drawing. Each term a class will be started in free-hand drawing, open to all students, free of charge.

2. Advanced work in Freehand Drawing. Students who desire to continue their work in drawing will, after the first term, be charged a small fee for tuition. See page 20.

3. A class in Outdoor Sketching. When the season permits, a class will be formed and instruction will be given in this branch of fine art work.

4. Painting. From Still Life. Theory and Arrangement of Colors. Landscape. Flowers from Nature and from Copy. Wood Carving. China Decoration. Instruction both in Oil and in Water Colors.

The School is provided with Draperies and Casts to draw from, besides a large variety of studies from Nature for use of pupils, without extra charge.

Art may be taken by students in the Literary Course, and in preparatory courses, be counted towards the degree, and is elective in all other of the Courses, though in them not allowed to count towards a degree.

CASE SCHOOL OF APPLIED SCIENCE.

We are able to bring the advantages of one of the foremost schools of applied science in the country within the reach of the young men who, by reason of their limited means, would be unable to pursue a four or seven years' course in the Case School itself.

By arrangement between the authorities of Case School and Baldwin University, students can pursue in Baldwin University through the Freshman year a scientific course equivalent to that in Case School, and then will be admitted to the Sophomore year of the Case School on certificate.

CHARTER.

An Act to Incorporate the Baldwin Institute, Middleburg, Cuyahoga County.

WHEREAS, Mr. John Baldwin, of Middleburg, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, has made a generous donation to the North Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, for the cause of education, consisting of land, and a suitable building thereon, for a seminary of learning; and whereas, said conference having accepted the said donation, and intend establishing there an institution for the promotion of general education; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That, Thomas Thompson, William Runnells, Wesley J. Wells, William C. Peirce, Wesley Brock, Lorenzo Warner, Holden Dwight, John Baldwin, Alfred Holbrook, Lonson Brown, Horace F. Adams, Ancil J. Pope, and Isaac Ward, and their successors, be, and they are hereby created a body politic and corporate with perpetual succession, by the name and style of the Trustees of the Baldwin Institute; that, by their corporate name aforesaid, they may contract and be contracted with, sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded in any court of competent jurisdiction, in any manner of action whatsoever, may have a common seal, may change or renew the same at pleasure, and shall hold their offices until their successors are appointed.

SEC. 2. That the successors of the above named trustees shall be appointed by the North Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, or by such conference of said church as may hereafter include said institution within its bounds.

SEC. 3. That said trustees and successors shall be capable of receiving, acquiring, and holding by gift, grant, purchase or otherwise, any real estate, real, personal or mixed, to the amount of three thousand dollars, of annual income, may sell, dispose of and convey the same, provided such property be not diverted from the express will of the donor.

SEC. 4. The said trustees shall have the power to establish an institution of learning, with a male and female department; elect all members of the faculty thereof, except the president or principal, who shall be appointed by the aforesaid conference; prescribe the course of study; make all rules, regulations and by-laws which they may deem expedient for the government of the said institution; and transact all business of said corporation; provided, the same be not inconsistent with the laws and constitution of this State or of the United States.

SEC. 5. A majority of the board of trustees, at any regularly called meeting, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

SEC. 6. The trustees shall have the power to elect from their own number, a president, secretary and treasurer, who shall perform the duties severally pertaining to their offices.

SEC. 7. That any future legislature may alter or amend this act, provided that the title of any property acquired or conveyed under its provisions, shall not be affected thereby, nor diverted from the literary, scientific and benevolent purposes originally designed.

ENLARGEMENT OF THE BOARD.

According to instructions given by the board, at their last annual meeting, the following bill to increase the membership of the board of trustees was passed by the General Assembly of Ohio.

HOUSE BILL No. 571.

AN ACT, To amend section 3752 of the Revised Statutes of Ohio,
SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That section 3752 of the Revised Statutes of Ohio be so amended as to read as follows : Section 3752. After such acceptance, the board shall certify the same to the patronizing conference or other religious body having the right to elect or appoint trustees of such university or other institution of learning, at the next meeting of such conference or religious body ; and thereafter the board shall consist of twenty-one trustees elected or appointed, and the president of such university or other institution of learning, who shall be ex-officio a member of the board ; such elected or appointed trustees shall be divided into three classes of seven members each.

At the first election or appointment after such acceptance, one of such classes shall be elected or appointed for one year, one for two years, and one for three years ; and in all subsequent elections or appointments each of the classes of trustees shall be elected or appointed for three years, but no term of office of any such trustee shall expire during any meeting of the board which does not continue more than two weeks. Ten members of the board shall constitute a quorum, and all vacancies which occur in any class of trustees otherwise than by the expiration of the term of office shall be filled only for the remainder of the term ; provided that any such university or other institution of learning, having heretofore accepted the provision of original sections 3751 and 3752 may increase its board of trustees by electing or appointing two additional members in each of the classes of trustees herein provided for.

SEC. 2. Said original section 3752 is hereby repealed.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect on its passage.

ELBERT L. LAMPSON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.
WILLIAM C. LYON,

President of the Senate.

Passed March 30, 1888.

GIFTS AND BEQUESTS.

The foundation of nearly all of our colleges has been laid by the benevolence of Christian people. There is perhaps no better way to promote the welfare of the Church, the State, and the individual, than by means of the schools and colleges which give sound training under distinctly Christian influences.

Baldwin University calls for increased liberality, especially from the churches and the conference which control its affairs.

For the convenience of those who wish to make a devise or bequest of their property to Baldwin University, we append herewith a proper form :

IN THE NAME OF THE BENEVOLENT FATHER OF ALL.

I, A.....B....., of....., do make and publish this, my last will and testament, as follows :

Item First—I give and devise, etc.

Item Second—I give and devise to “THE TRUSTEES OF BALDWIN UNIVERSITY,” and its successors and assigns forever the following lands and tenements (description), in..... county, in the State of.....

Item Third—I give and bequeath to “THE TRUSTEES OF BALDWIN UNIVERSITY” the sum of.....dollars, to be paid by my executor out of my estate within.....months after my decease.

In testimony whereof, I hereto subscribe my name and affix my seal, this.....day of....., A. D.....

{ Seal. }

A..... B.....

Signed and acknowledged by the above named A.....
 B..testator, as his last will and testament, in our presence; and signed by us in his presence, and at his request, as subscribing witnesses to the foregoing last will and testament at the date last aforesaid.

LIFE ANNUITY.

The University desires to call especial attention to its Annuity Plan, which is a very desirable investment for those who wish to enjoy an income from their property during life, and to leave it to an educational institution at their death.

The University will receive money, stocks, bonds and other personal property, also productive real estate, and pay to the grantor or donor during life a reasonable annuity. Said annuity is paid in semi-annual installments, and is free from taxes.

Fuller information can be obtained at any time by writing to the President of the University.

UNIVERSITY CAMPUS AND BUILDINGS.

The University is located on a new campus of about twenty acres, near the center of the village, and within ten minutes' walk of the railway station. The electric street railway between Berea and Cleveland passes in front of the campus. German Wallace College is only a few steps distant.

RECITATION HALL.

This building is constructed of Berea stone and has three stories above the basement. The building has nine classrooms and an Assembly room. The class-room seats are tablet chairs. The Assembly room seats are opera chairs.

THE PHILURA GOULD BALDWIN MEMORIAL LIBRARY.

This memorial building is a gift to the University by Mr. and Mrs. John Baldwin, Jr., in memory of their beloved daughter, Philura Gould Baldwin, who fell asleep March 6, 1892.

Miss Baldwin was not only a graduate of the University, but was the first librarian under present organization of the library, which by her intelligent and self-sacrificing labor was brought to an excellent state.

The plan for the building is worthy of its name and purpose. It has the chief merits of the best modern library buildings. Like the Recitation Hall, this building is constructed entirely of Berea stone. The basement story is arranged for the storage, packing and unpacking of books. The first floor is the library room proper, and has a capacity of from 30,000 to 50,000 volumes. Here will be found not only current periodicals and papers, but books of reference and other books that may be of use to students making special preparation in any department of study. The dimensions are about 41 by 66 feet. The rooms are abundantly lighted and tastefully finished.

LADIES' HALL.

Ladies' Hall is of Berea stone. It is heated by steam. The basement story is occupied by the college dining hall.

Ladies' Hall is the home for the young women students of the University. The Preceptress gives thoughtful and sympathetic care to the young women, whether in sickness or in health.

HULET HALL.

Hulet Hall (of which the cut shown in front part of catalogue is a good picture of what it once was,) was "largely the gift of Fletcher Hulet." Both exterior and interior were plain, being constructed on a simple plan. The style of the outside is sufficiently suggested by the picture. The material was rockfaced stone; the roof was of slate. Within there were but two floors, there being neither basement nor finished attic. The first floor was occupied by classrooms, halls, and stairways. Of classrooms there were five, one of which, in the latter years, was appropriated to the uses of the library. A main hall, five feet wide, traversed the building lengthwise from end to end. At the front a wide transverse hall made room for the stairways to the Auditorium above. The Auditorium was furnished with pews and accommodated about 600 people at a time when all space was utilized. The large stage which occupied the end of the hall from wall to wall would accommodate 200 more.

In 1887 the Campus was sold to the Cleveland Stone Company. But occupancy for five years was reserved. The period expired without new buildings being furnished, though Recitation Hall was under way. Hence Hulet Hall passed into the ownership of the Stone Company. However, the company generously agreed that if the stones were removed during the calendar year of 1896, the University should have them free of cost.

The last commencement exercises held in Hulet Hall were those of 1896. The last sermon preached in it was the Missionary sermon of that year, Sunday, June 7th, by Rev. Julius Soper, D. D. A farewell meeting was held in it on the afternoon of Commencement day of that year, June 11th. The same afternoon, faculty, alumni, students, and hundreds of friends followed wagons loaded with stone from the walls of Hulet, to the new ground, where ground was broken for the new edifice.

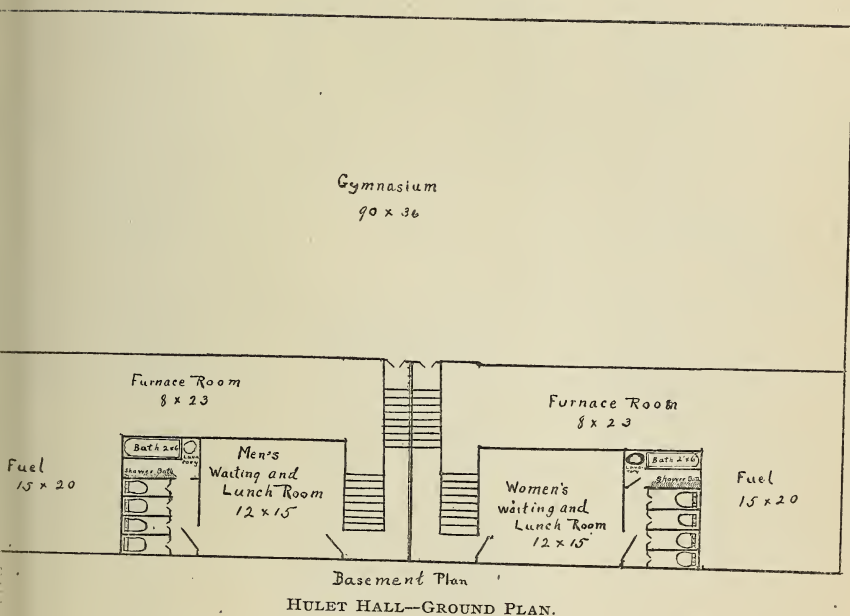

On Monday, June 29th, the Executive Committee of Trustees accepted the bid of Fred. C. Bullinger for removal of the stones of Hulet Hall, for $825.00. On July 13th the work of removal was begun, and was completed in about five weeks.

To say that Hulet Hall is badly needed by the University is to make a mild statement of facts. At present there is no hall in Baldwin University or in German Wallace College large enough for a first-class occasion. Nor does the town afford a hall of sufficient size. There is no prospect that the town will ever build a commodious hall. The new town hall to be erected this year will cost but seven thousand dollars, and will make no provision for a large assembly hall. The gymnasium, society halls, recitation rooms, laboratory, are all equally in demand. The economy of this new building will be phenomenal, enabling the University actually to obtain all that is herein pictured for the sum of ten thousand dollars.

ATHLETIC FIELD.

Ample grounds have been set apart on the new campus for base ball field, foot-ball field and tennis courts.

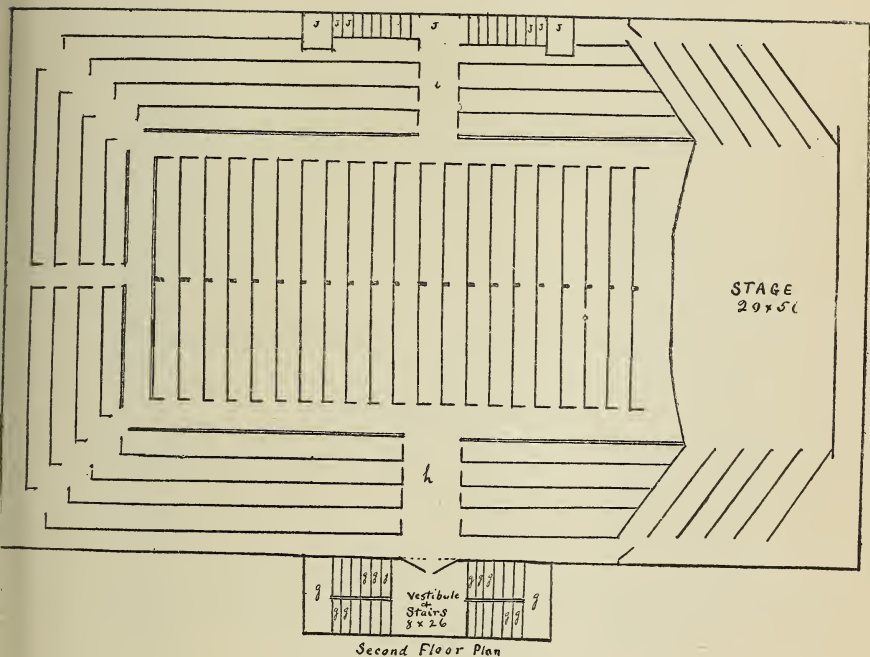

The new Hulet Hall will be of same dimensions on the ground as was the old building, viz: 90x56 feet. The above plan explains itself in large part. The waiting and lunch rooms will be for the accommodation of day students who reside sufficiently near Berea to be able to spend the day time in school. Lockers for books, wraps and lunch baskets will be provided, and every accommodation needed for making the odd hours pleasant. The gymnasium will have a height of ceiling of 14 feet and will be so finished as to furnish a running track and ball pitcher's alley, in addition to provision for all usual apparatus of a gymnasium.

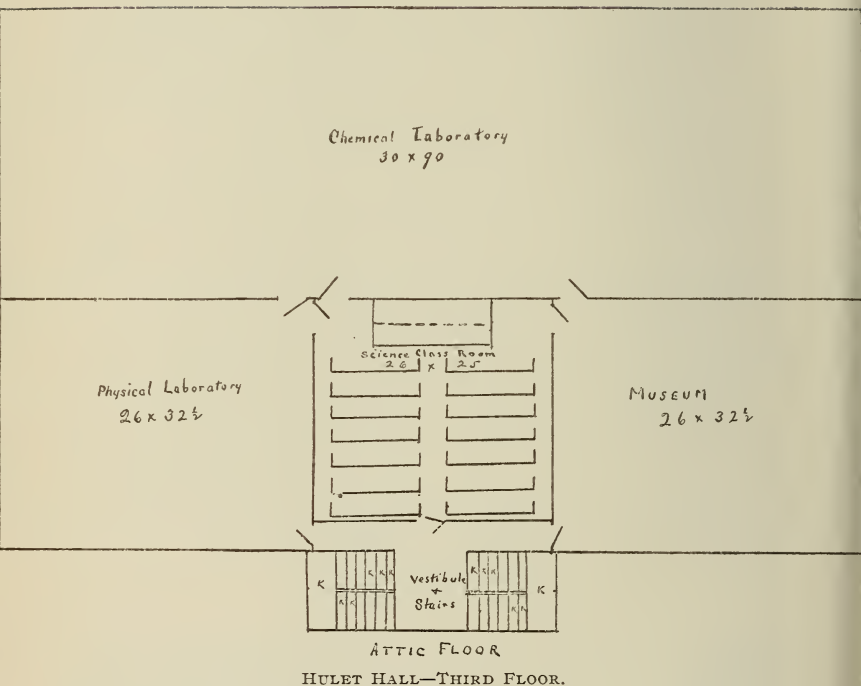

HULET HALL—FIRST FLOOR.

The stairways to upper floors are mainly furnished by an extension in front 8x26 feet. The main entrance is through this extension on a level half way between the basement level and that of the first floor. The literary society halls on either side occupy the most favored portions of the building, as they ought. They will be considerably larger than any accommodations ever before permanently enjoyed by the societies. The preparatory and normal classes will have each its separate room. A staircase surrounding the middle preparatory will lead to the audience room above, thus making two ways of entering and leaving the audience room.

HULET HALL--SECOND FLOOR.

It will be observed that no part of the space of this audience room is used for stairways, excepting the slight space at the wall opposite main entrance. A person entering from the vestibule will be on a level with the stage, and by continuing to the right along the wall can enter the stage without an additional step. The seats parallel to the walls will be raised one above another the height of a step, 8 inches. The main body of the pews will be on a level floor and lower. This hall, exclusive of stage, is calculated to seat 732 persons. The stage which is fitted with movable flies will seat 270 more, making a total seating capacity of 1002. The stage will also be accessible from the rear in a manner not shown here.

The natural science work will find temporary lodgment on this floor. The Laboratory will furnish ample room and light for a hundred students working at once. Likewise physical science apparatus as well as museum specimens will be within reach of the science class room. The teacher's desk will be an experimenting table, fitted with all appliances.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

LOCATION.

Berea, wherein Baldwin University is located, is a thriving and healthful village of three thousand inhabitants, in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, twelve miles southwest from the public square of Cleveland.

It is an educational center, having Baldwin University, German Wallace College, the German Methodist Orphan Asylum, and superior public schools.

It has representatives of the following churches: Methodist Episcopal (English and German), Congregational, Protestant Episcopal, German Lutheran and Roman Catholic.

It has no saloons within its limits. The sentiment of the village is strongly in favor of the local option law now in force.

It is lighted by electric lights. It is connected with Cleveland by an electric street railway.

It is easy of access by means of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis, and the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railways. Passengers from Cleveland by electric line should take Cleveland and Berea street cars at Public Square, opposite the Soldiers' Monument. Cars leave at half-past every hour.

CO-EDUCATION.

From the opening of the institution, in 1846, young men and young women have been admitted to all its departments on equal terms.

DEPARTMENTS.

I. The College of Liberal Arts—which has four courses of study :

1. The Classical Course.
2. The Philosophical Course.
3. The Scientific Course.
4. The Literary Course.

II. The Collegiate Preparatory Department.

III. The Business Department.

IV. The Art Department.

V. The Music Department.

VI. The Elocution Department.

RELIGION.

1. Baldwin University belongs to the North Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

2. Chapel services are held every school-day morning, and attendance is required. Attendance upon church services Sunday is required.

3. There is a Young Men's Christian Association, which maintains social religious meetings every week. There is also a Young Women's Christian Association, whose work is parallel to that of the Young Men's Association.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are four Literary Societies in connection with the college, namely : The Phrenocosmian, the Philozetian, the Clionian, and the Alethean. The first two are for young men, and the last two for young women. They meet on Monday evening or Friday evening.

THE LIBRARY.

The Philura Gould Baldwin Memorial Library (a description of the building is given elsewhere) comprises many volumes well selected for uses of undergraduate students, and possesses a considerable collection of more general character. The Dewey system of classification is used. The reading room is furnished with the best papers and magazines.

THE LABORATORIES.

The Chemical Laboratory is equipped with a complete outfit of chemicals and apparatus for work in general chemistry and qualitative analysis.

Each student is assigned a desk and performs his laboratory work individually, under the direction of the instructor.

The Biological Laboratory is supplied with Leitz microscopes, each having an Abbe condenser and an iris diaphragm and other accessories.

There is also a good microtome imported from Germany.

The material needed for study is furnished to the student.

THE GOVERNMENT

The government of the College relies upon the good character of the students. Students who come as strangers should bring certificates of good moral character.

The Faculty will dismiss any student without notice to the parents, when in their judgment the welfare of the College requires such action.

ROOMS AND BOARDING.

Young men room in homes in the village, places of lodging and boarding being subject to the approval of the Faculty.

Whether in private families or in the halls of the College, students are held responsible for the proper care of furniture and other property.

Young women must room and board in Ladies' Hall, unless they room at the home of parents, guardians, or relatives, or unless their parents request, with sufficient reason, that they be permitted to room in the village.

Each student in Ladies' Hall is expected to furnish her own towels, napkins and napkin-ring, two sheets and two pillow cases, one pillow, two comfortables, one spread, and two teaspoons.

SUGGESTIONS TO NEW STUDENTS.

1. Arrive in Berea the day before the term opens.
2. The street car at the station passes in front of the College building. The conductors will, if asked, give new students needed information.
3. Persons desiring to be met at the station by some one connected with the College, should inform the President by letter of the time of their arrival.

COURSES OF STUDY.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to any department of the College must present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character. Those coming from other colleges must present a certificate of honorable dismissal, and give satisfactory evidence of being qualified for the classes which they purpose to enter.

1. The requirements for admission to the Freshman class are the studies of the Preparatory Department, or their equivalents.

2. Students from other colleges will be received on their certificates without examination, and be ranked upon showing of grades, independent of rank held in colleges from which they come.

3. A student from any good public school will receive credit on a certificate from his teacher, according to the nature and amount of work which he has done.

4. Application by a person not in residence, for admission to the senior class, must be made not later than the beginning of the college year in which the applicant desires to be graduated.

EXPLANATION OF COURSES.

Classes recite five days in a week, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays. There are no college exercises on Mondays, except Literary Society work.

The word "course" is used in two senses; in the first it denotes one of the four, Classical, Philosophical, Scientific, Literary, which lead to degrees. When used in this sense it will be printed with a capital letter. In the second it denotes one-fourth of one year's work; as, a course in Mathematics means one study (as Algebra), pursued through the three terms of a college year. In this sense, a student takes four courses per year; as Latin, Greek, Mathematics, History.

The capital letters, A B C D E F G, are used to denote the courses in a given subject, if there be more than one course in that branch. The various courses will be exhibited in detail in the following pages. See page 42 and following.

If a person wishes to know, for example, what Latin D consists of, he must refer to the subject Latin, page 44, where under Latin D he will find that Horace's Odes and Epodes in the fall, Horace's Satires and Epistles in the winter, and Cicero's Cato Major and Lælius in the spring, compose the course. Likewise any course in the tables can be ascertained by similar reference to the groups, beginning page 42.

The alphabetical table of courses, pages 36-37 furnishes quick but general information.

The same explanations apply also to the Normal Courses. The requirement of a county certificate in the Normal work means that examination in Common School branches by county examiners must be passed as a condition for completion of the Normal course. A certificate from any county in Ohio will be accepted. Certificates from other states will be considered on their merits. Persons who have taken common school branches in the university and obtained a county certificate, may, upon application, receive a certificate from the university. Students who have completed the Normal course will receive a diploma.

Recitations in the Preparatory and Normal and College classes last fifty minutes, the remaining ten minutes of each hour being allowed for intermission.

G. W. C. denotes recitations held in German Wallace College.

Students, except those in common branches, may not take more than four studies per term, though Music or Art may be taken in addition to those four. Students in Literary Course may take both Music and Art.

Students must obtain consent of faculty in order to be allowed to take out studies in absentia. The request must state the class to which the student belongs, and must name the studies to be thus taken. The amount of study thus to be taken must not exceed one fourth of that year's work: the student must take out in advance the ticket entitling to instruction and examinations; for each ticket he must pay $3.00. Time and place of taking the examination to be agreed upon by the applicant and professor in charge of the department to which the study belongs.

Students while in college may make up work by private study and private examination. The amount of work thus made up must not exceed one study per term. The student must at beginning of the term obtain consent of faculty to take work in this way.

As a rule, students must remain in college for any given term until their examinations have closed. Should circumstances require their leaving before examinations, a request to faculty should be made for privilege of private examination. If granted, the applicant must pay a fee of $1.00 to the professor or tutor conducting such examination.

Students are expected to pursue systematic courses in choosing electives. In advance of their entering upon Junior year studies, they should know what they will elect. In order to make wise use of their privileges, students are entitled to seek advice from members of faculty. Unregulated choice will not be allowed.

In order to prevent confusion and defeat in carrying out elective courses, students should carefully consult the Recitation Schedule, to see whether all studies they propose to take can be taken without conflict, not only for a term, or a year, but also throughout the years through which the courses will run.

The Recitation Schedules are permanent. Two studies placed at the same hour cannot both be taken the same year. Alternations between classes will not be allowed. Therefore, choice of studies must always have reference to Recitation Schedules.

Departments of Instruction.

PHILOSOPHY.

PRESIDENT WARNER.

- 1899-1900. D. (Freshman.)—In the fall term Hyde's Practical Ethics will be studied. In the winter term Ladd's Primer of Psychology. And in the spring term an introduction to metaphysics as given by St. George Mivart's "The Helpful Science." This course, known as Philosophy D., will be required in the Freshman year in the Philosophical Course. It will be elective for any of the college classes of the Literary Course, and in Classical and Scientific Courses elective for Juniors and Seniors.
- 1898-9. E. (Sophomore.)—In the fall and winter terms the textbook used will be James's Briefer Course in Psychology, followed in the spring term with Metaphysics, Bowne. Reference books: McCosh's First and Fundamental Truths, Bradley's Appearance and Reality, Royce's Spirit of Modern Philosophy. This course is required of Sophomores in Philosophical Course, is elective for students in Literary Course in any college year, and elective for Juniors and Seniors in Classical and Scientific Courses.
- 1899-1900. F. (Junior.)—Three terms, fall, winter and spring, devoted to obtaining a general historical outline of the entire field of Philosophical study. Reference books: Weber's History of Philosophy, Schwegler's History of Philosophy, George Henry Lewes's Biographical History of Philosophy, Windelband's History of Philosophy, Falckenberg's History of Modern Philosophy. Required in Junior year of Philosophical Course, elective for Juniors and Seniors in all other Courses, and for students of all years in the Literary Course.
- 1898-9. G. (Senior.)—Ethics is studied in the fall term. As a textbook, Hyslop's Elements of Ethics, or Mackenzie's Manual of Ethics will be used. References: Bowne's Principles of Ethics; Spencer's Data of Ethics; Muirhead's Elements of Ethics. In the winter term an outline study of Religions will be made, with special reference to the comparison of other religions with the Christian religion ; Text, Menzie's History of Religions. In the spring term, International Law, with Woolsey's as a text-book ; for reference, Wheaton. This course is required in Philosophical Course, Senior year ; is elective in any year of Literary Course, and in Junior and Senior years, of Classical and Scientific Courses.

PROFESSOR MATTISON.

- GA. (Senior.)—This is a special course required in the Literary, elective in the other Courses, in Junior and Senior years. In the fall term Jevons' Lessons in Logic ; in the winter term, Political Economy, Walker, supplemented by references to Newcomb, Perry, Ely, Gide and others. In Social Science, which is taught in the spring, Henderson's "The Social Spirit in America," will furnish the basis for the class's work, with references to the abundant literature of the subject in the library, selections at option of the teacher.

LATIN.

PROFESSOR MATTISON.

- A. (Junior Preparatory Latin.)—Coy's Latin Lessons is used throughout the year. This course is required in Junior Preparatory work, in the Classical, Philosophical and Literary Courses, and is elective in the Scientific Course in any year.
- B. (Middle Preparatory Latin.)—In the fall, Cæsar's Commentaries are read, and in the winter and spring, Cicero's Orations. Throughout this year a weekly exercise is given in Prose Composition, in addition to the daily oral work based on the text read. Jones's Prose Composition, Allen & Greenough's, Kelsey's, or Harkness's text-books. Studies in Roman life and literature are pursued through the year. This course is required in Classical, Philosophical and Literary Courses, and is elective in any year of the Scientific.

- C. (Senior Preparatory Latin.)—Ovid's Metamorphoses in the fall term, and Virgil's Æneid in winter and spring terms. For the first-named, Allen & Greenough's texts; for the last, Greenough's or Harper & Miller's are used. This course is required in Classical, Philosophical and Literary Courses, and is elective in any year of the Scientific.
- D. (Freshman Latin.)—In the fall term are read Horace's Odes and Epodes. Text, Smith, or Chase & Stuart. In the winter term Horace's Satires and Epistles, with Greenough, or Chase & Stuart, as texts, are read. In the spring term are read Cicero's Cato Major and Lælius; Stickney, Chase & Stuart, or Shuckburg, texts. This course is required in Philosophical and Classical Courses, and is elective in any year of the Scientific and Literary. Readings at sight from Martial and Aulus Gellius, are required.
- 1898-9. EA. (First Sophomore Course.)—In the fall term Juvenal's Satires, Lindsay, or Chase & Stuart; in the winter term, Tacitus's Germania and Agricola, Hopkins or Chase & Stuart; in the spring term, Cicero's De Officiis, Stickney or Chase & Stuart, text.
- 1899-1900. EB. (Second Sophomore Course.)—In the fall term Cicero's Brutus; in winter, Quintilian, Books X and XII; in spring, Cicero's De Oratore.
- 1900-1. EC. (Third Sophomore Course.)—In the fall, Cicero's De Natura Deorum; in winter, Plautus's Pseudolus and Terence's Adelpho; in spring, Post's "Latin at Sight."

Of the E courses one is required in Classical and Philosophical Courses, while the others are elective in any year of the Scientific or Literary, and in Junior and Senior years of the Classical and Philosophical Courses.

THE NATURAL SCIENCES.

PROFESSOR SMITH.

- B. (Middle Preparatory.)—Elements of Physics, fall and winter terms, Botany, spring term. Text in Physics: Elements of Physics—

Carhart and Chute. Text in Botany: School and Field Botany—Gray.

- C. (Senior Preparatory.)—Physiology, fall term; Physical Geography, winter and spring terms. Text in Physiology: The Human Body (Briefer Course)—Martin. Text in Physical Geography—Appleton's.

In all the Courses of Study except Literary, wherein course C is omitted, these Preparatory courses in the Natural Sciences are prescribed.

- D. (Freshman.)—General Chemistry, fall and winter terms; Qualitative Analysis, spring term. The qualitative chemical analysis will consist of lectures and laboratory work, with instruction to the individual student. The General Chemistry is taught by lectures, recitations and laboratory work. Reference text: Introduction to the Study of Chemistry—Remsen.

- E. (Sophomore.)—Zoölogy, fall term; Geology, winter and spring terms. The work in Zoölogy will be chiefly recitations with some lectures and anatomical demonstrations. Text: Comparative Zoölogy—Orton. Students in Zoölogy will be expected to have a knowledge of the elements of biology. Geology will be taught by lectures, field work and the study of specimens in the museum. References to required reading will be given. Reference text: Elements of Geology—Le Conte. Students in Geology will be expected to have a knowledge of the elements of botany and of zoölogy.

- F. (Junior.)—Physics in the fall and winter terms; Biology in the spring term. The work in Biology will be chiefly lectures and laboratory work. Students who expect to elect Science G, Physiology and Botany, are advised to take Biology. Text in Physics: Ganot's Physics, translated by Atkinson. Course F will be given only in alternate years. It will be given in the college year 1899-1900.

- G. (Senior.)—Physiology, fall and winter terms; Botany, spring term. Text in Physiology: The Human Body (Advanced Course)—Martin. Students in Pysiology will be expected to have a knowledge of general chemistry. The work in Botany will consist of the histology and physiology of plants and the analysis of some of the more difficult species. Course G will be given only in alternate years. It will be given in the college year 1898-9.

In the Scientific Course all of the courses in the Natural Sciences are prescribed. In the Classical and Philosophical Courses, Science Courses D and E are prescribed; F and G are elective. In the Literary Course D is prescribed; E F G are elective.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

GERMAN.

PROFESSOR WILKER AND MR. HANDSCHIN.

- B. (Middle Preparatory German.)—The fall and winter terms consist of Lessons and Grammar. In the spring term, Easy Reading is begun in connection with continued practice in Grammar. Required in Philosophical Course; elective in any year of Scientific and Literary; elective in Junior and Senior years in Classical Course.
- C. (Senior Preparatory German.)—In the fall term a modern story and Composition; in the winter term, a Modern Drama and Composition; in the spring term, Classical Drama and Composition. This course is required in the Philosophical Course, is elective in any year of the Literary and Scientific Courses, and in the Junior and Senior years of the Classical.
- D. (Freshman German.)—The student, according to his attainments and needs, selects, after consulting the professor, a study from the following list: Deutsche Elementar-Grammatik, Hoehere Deutsche Grammatik, Stitistik, Deutsche Literatur Geschichte, Voelker Kunde, Heilige Geschichte, Weltgeschichte, Deutsch Lesen. These studies are taught in German Wallace College (in German), and they are an excellent means for third year's students to acquire the German language thoroughly.—See List of German Studies on page 48. This course is required in the Philosophical Course, elective in Junior and Senior years of the Classical, and in any year of the Literary and Scientific courses.

From the beginning of the German courses throughout the three years, conversations and dictations in German are employed in the classroom. In the Freshman year, German D, German is used in the recitations as the only language of communication between professor and class. By varying the texts in German C, and the classes in German D, it will be possible for students to obtain four or even more years of German, if more than the prescribed amounts are desired.

Schmit's German Grammar is used.

FRENCH.

PROFESSOR V. WILKER.

E. (Sophomore.)—In fall and winter terms, First Lessons and Grammar; in the spring, Grammar and Easy Reading. This course is required in the Scientific and Literary Courses, and is elective in the Junior and Senior years as the Classical and Philosophical.

F. (Junior.)—In the fall term, Modern Story and Composition; in the winter, Classical Drama and Composition; in the spring, History of French Literature in French. It will be possible for students who desire to obtain more than two years of French to do so, by having Course C varied each year. Conversation and dictation throughout the whole of the above French courses. Course C is required of Literary and Scientific students, and is elective for Juniors and Seniors in the Classical and Philosophical courses.

Muzzarelli's French Course is used.

Collateral reading is required in each term's work.

1899-0. EC. (Sophomore.)—In the fall term, Euripides, selected plays; in the winter term, selections from Homer's Odyssey, in rapid reading with especial attention to literary value, text of Dindorf; in the Spring term, Greek Lyric Poets. Collateral reading is required in each term's work.

Arrangements are being made for a course in Greek History, Greek Life as studied from the monuments, and Greek Art. Further notice of this course will be given later.

HISTORY.

PROFESSOR EDDY.

A. (Junior Preparatory History.)—This course is required in all Courses. In the fall term, Ancient History is studied; in the winter term, Mediæval History; in the spring, Modern. The text in use is Myer's.

1899-1900. EA. (First Sophomore History.)—Introduction to the Middle Ages, in the fall term, with Emerton's text; in the winter term Montgomery's History of France; and in the spring term, the same author's History of England.

1898-9. EB. (Second Sophomore History.)—In the fall term, The Colonies, Thwaites; in the winter, Formation of the Union, Hart; in the spring, Wilson's Division and Reunion. Throughout this course, special attention will be given to the sources, formation, and growth of the constitution, and to the history of political parties.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

PROFESSOR COLLIER.

A. (Junior Preparatory.)—In the fall and winter terms a general introduction to Literature is given by the study of Brooke's "Primer of English Literature." In the spring term, American Literature is treated in a similar manner with the "Primer of American Literature" by Mildred C. Watkins, as text. This course is required in all Courses.

Rhetoric A. (Junior Preparatory.)—In the fall term, Mead's Rhetoric; in the winter, Clark's; and in the spring, Clark's completed. The texts are selected with the purpose of giving clearness of theory, combined with much practice on all the points covered by practical Rhetoric. This course is required in the Junior Preparatory year of the Classical, Philosophical and Scientific Courses and in the Middle Preparatory year of the Literary.

D. I, II. (Freshman.)

1899-1900. D I. Half Course. A careful study of the English Prose Writings of the XIXth Century is given by lectures, and by special study of the great masterpieces. Reports and thesis work are required. Two hours a week for the year.

D II. Half Course. Rhetoric and Composition. Genung's "Practical Elements of Rhetoric" is used, and daily or fortnightly themes required. Two hours a week for the year. These two half courses are required in the Literary Course; elective in all years of the Scientific, and elective in Junior and Senior years of the Classical and Philosophical Courses.

E. I, II. (Sophomore.)

1898-9. E I. English Poetical writers of the XIXth Century. Required in the Literary Course; elective in all years of the Scientific, and in Junior and Senior Years of the Classical and Philosophical Courses.

E II. Gummere's "Handbook of Poetics" two hours a week, fall term. Whately's Rhetoric, two hours a week with argumentative themes, winter and spring terms.

1899-1900. FA. (Junior.) A general historical survey of the English Language and Literature. Required in all the Courses.

1899-1900. FB. (Junior.) Bible and American Literature. Bible Literature, Moulton's Literary Study of the Bible, fall term. Brander Matthew's "Introduction to American Literature," text, winter and spring terms. Elective in all courses.

G. (Senior.)

1898-9. Rolfe Edition of Hamlet; Othello; Shakspeare's Merchant of Venice; King Lear; King Henry IV, Part I; As You Like It; and Dowden's Shakspeare Primer will be studied.

This course is required in the Literary, Classical and Philosophical Courses; elective in the Junior and Senior years of the Scientific.

BIBLICAL AND THEOLOGICAL.

PROFESSOR F. S. HOYT.

[Of the courses offered below, three will be given during 1898-9, the choice to be made by students, with a view to accommodating the greatest number.]

Hebrew F.—In fall, winter and spring terms, four times a week, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, a course for beginners. Text-book: Mitchell's Hebrew Lessons. (Edition of 1897.) In connection with these lessons, selected chapters in Genesis will be studied. Elective for preachers in charge, and for ministerial candidates in their Junior or Senior year, and to count one course towards an academic degree. Students may elect this course or Hebrew G. for 1898-9; both will not be given in the same year.

Hebrew G.—In fall, winter and spring terms, selected portions of the Pentateuch and of the later historical books will be read, and especial attention given throughout to the acquisition of Hebrew Vocabulary. Four times a week, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. Open to preachers in charge, and to count one course towards an academic degree. Students may elect this course or Hebrew F. for 1898-9; both will not be given in the same year.

1899-1900. Greek F.—In fall, winter and spring terms, four times a week, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, the gospel by Matthew or Mark, and the acts of the Apostles will be studied. Westcott & Hort's Greek New Testament the preferred text, and Thayer's the preferred Greek lexicon. Elective in Junior and Senior years for classical ministerial candidates; open for classical graduate students and persons who have completed two years of classical work, and to count one course towards a degree. The University Library affords many facilities for exegetical study, and to these each student will have free access.

1898-9. Greek G.—In fall, winter and spring terms, four times a week, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays, the class will study the Epistle to the Romans and several of the shorter Epistles. Preferred text and lexicon same as above. Elective in Junior or Senior year for classical ministerial candidates, and to count one course towards a degree. Open to classical graduate students and to other persons who have completed two years of classical work.

Gb. Special course. In fall and winter terms, Homiletics, Broadus'; in spring, Russell's Pulpit Elocution. Elective for Juniors and Seniors in any Course, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays and Fridays. To count one course towards a degree.

Gc. In fall term, Christian Ethics, text, Paulus; in winter, Fisher's Grounds for Theistic and Christian Belief; in spring, Ely's "Social Aspects of Christianity." Required in Senior year in all courses, five times a week.

Gd. Course in Church History and Missions. Fall, winter and spring terms, three times a week for history and once for missions.

MATHEMATICS.

PROFESSOR LEHMAN.

- B. (Middle Preparatory.)—Taylor's Academic Algebra. Fall term, to page 119; winter term, to page 222; spring term, to page 292.
- C. (Senior Preparatory.)—Plane and Solid Geometry, Phillips and Fisher. Fall term, books I-III; winter term, books IV-VI; spring term, books VII, VIII and IX.
- D. (Freshman.)—Algebra and Trigonometry. Fall term, Taylor's College Algebra, pages 78-223; winter term, Idem, pages 224-363; spring term, Wells' New Plane and Spherical Trigonometry.
- E. (Sophomore.)—Analytic Geometry and Calculus. Fall term, Analytic Geometry, Wentworth; winter term Differential Calculus; spring term, Integral Calculus. Osborne.
- 1898-9. FA. (First Junior.)—Fall and winter terms, Differential Equations. Johnson's Treatise will be used. Spring term, Analytical Mechanics.
- 1899-1900. FB. (Second Junior.)—Fall term, Surveying; winter and spring terms, Young's General Astronomy.

NORMAL.

1st Year.—Instruction in the common branches will be given continually with regularity and system. An opportunity is thus afforded for those who desire to review studies for teachers' examinations; for those whose education for any cause is deficient in some or all branches of common school studies, who may wish to supply their lack under the very best conditions; for those who have entered upon one or the other of the courses of study, who may in addition desire to do more work in the common branches; also for those who wish to take the Normal Course. The studies are those upon which a person is examined for a teacher's common school certificate and no other.

Reading.—The Heart of Oak series, No. IV, will be used, supplemented by readings of the best authors.

Writing.—The Spencerian system of writing, its principles and practice, will be taught. This course in writing will not aim at making the ornate penmanship of the professional penmanship schools, but at teaching right forms and improving the natural hand. It may be pursued for two years or even more if desired.

Spelling.—Spelling will be taught both by rules and by dictation and correction of lists.

Orthography.—Orthography will be so taught that a student entering at any term of the year will find the class at a point where he can advantageously begin.

Arithmetic.—Arithmetic will extend throughout the entire year. The text used will be White's. If practicable, during the year, additional texts may be used for those desiring to take advanced work in Arithmetic. A separate class for advanced students will be formed if necessary.

English Grammar.—The text used will be Reed and Kellogg's Lessons in Higher English. Any one, by beginning at the opening of the year, can master the study as rapidly as the class advances. Diagraming is taught in connection with the analysis of sentences.

United States History.—Fiske's History of the United States. This study will continue through the year, three recitations per week.

Civics.—Will be taught in connection with History Eb. twice a week, fall and winter terms.

Geography.—The Eclectic series of geographies are in use. This branch will cover the entire subject during the year, recitations twice each week.

Physiology.—In fall term, Martin's Human Body will be the text; in the winter the same study and same text will be begun again and the course repeated. By this means a student who wishes to do so can get Physiology either term, or can review it during the same year.

Theory and Practice.—In the fall term, DeGraff's School Room Guide will be the text; in the winter, Thring's Theory and Practice; in the spring, Baldwin's Applied Psychology. The texts are not specially related to each other, but each one contains instruction on the Theory and Practice of Teaching. Any one term of this work will suffice, and it will matter not much which of the terms is taken: hence a student can enter at any term. Likewise, if a student desire, he can take several terms of it, thereby gaining the advantage of suggestions from several texts, and the general review of the subject involved in studying two or three books.

SECOND YEAR.

Mathematics B.—In fall term, Taylor's Academic Algebra to page 119; in the winter term, the same work is continued to page 222; in the spring, the same text is used, and work carried to page 292.

1899-1900. History Ea.—In the fall term, Introduction to the Middle Ages, Emerton; in the winter, Montgomery's History of France; in the spring, Montgomery's History of England.

1898-9. History Eb.—In the fall term, the Colonies, Thwaites; in the winter, Formation of the Union, Hart; in the spring, Wilson's Division and Reunion. Throughout this course special attention will be given to the sources, formation and growth of the Constitution, and to the history of political parties. Students who spend more than one year at Normal work may take both courses.

1899-1900. Pedagogy F.—In the fall and winter terms, Compayre's Lectures on Pedagogy; in the spring the same author's History of Pedagogy.

1898-9. Pedagogy G.—In the fall, Rosenkrantz's Philosophy of Education; in the winter, De Garmo's Essentials of Method, one-half term, and Rein's Outlines of Pedagogy, one-half term; in the spring, Browning's History of Educational Theories, one-half term, and William's History of Modern Education, one-half term. Students who spend two years in the Normal work may obtain both courses.

ELECTIVES.—For the completion of the Normal Course it is further required that a student take a course selected from some one of the courses of the university. The student has the privilege of choice among all, but must use his privilege under advice of the faculty or of a member of the faculty.

PEDAGOGY.

1899-1900. F. (Junior.)—The following courses are given in Pedagogy: In the fall and winter terms, Compayre's Lectures on Pedagogy, Part I; in the spring term, History of Pedagogy, by the same author. Either this Course or Course G is required in the Normal Course, while both F and G are open as electives to students of all courses in the College Department.

1898-9. G. (Senior.)—In fall, Rosenkrantz's Philosophy of Education; in the winter, De Garmo's Essentials of Method, one-half term, and Rein's Outlines of Pedagogy, one-half term; in the spring, Browning's History of Educational Theories, one-half term, and William's History of Modern Education, one-half term. This course, or F, is required in Normal Course, and is open to students in all college courses as an elective. It will thus be possible for a student in any of the Courses to obtain two years of Pedagogy if desired.

BUSINESS.

Book-keeping.—The business transaction is made the basis of instruction, and the system is actual business from the start. The student draws up and handles, throughout the course, notes, bills, checks, and all other forms of paper in common use. He computes the interest from the note itself, and writes his entries after making actual business transactions. Thus he gains a preparation for business life as near to the actual experience of business life as can be obtained outside of the counting room itself. This work can be begun at any time in the school year, though it is better to begin with the term. We offer two courses of instruction in this work.

- I. The complete course. This includes Double and Single Entry, Special Column Journal, Commission, Partnership, Corporation and Banking. The course is divided into three nearly equal parts for the convenience of the student in making payments.

Part I. Ends with the Special-Column Journal.

Part II. Goes to General Merchandise Business.

Part III. Completes the work.

- II. Introductory course. This has been added for the benefit of those students who wish to gain enough insight into book-keeping to keep a private set of books. It will furnish a practical term's work for those young people from the country and the work-shop who have only a term at their disposal.

Commercial Arithmetic.—The effort of the instructor will be to make this course of practical benefit in the common problems of business life. Percentage and its applications to interest, true and bank discount, commission, etc.; equation of payments and mensuration will be some of the subjects treated. This course will be given daily during the winter term.

Correspondence.—We will introduce a special course in letter-writing, which is a practical and original "learning by doing" method of teaching a pupil to write plain business letters in correct form.

Commercial Law.—This course will be given to enable the pupil to become thoroughly familiar with the common laws of carrying on business, such as the laws of contracts, negotiable paper, interest and usury, agency, etc., etc. This course will be given in the fall term.

Typewriting.—The Smith Premier Typewriters are in use. The keyboard is universal, so that a person learning this machine can at once use the Remington, Caligraph, and, indeed, most others.

Stenography.—We are using Dement's Pitmanic Shorthand, and instruction will be given in it throughout the year. Two terms of this art will qualify a student to act as private secretary to a man of business. The demand for stenographers is steadily on the increase, and a good stenographer is seldom without work, especially if he be a bookkeeper and can use the typewriter. This may be begun at the beginning of fall and winter terms.

Mechanical Drawing.—This work will require a knowledge of Geometry, and will consist of a series of accurately drawn plates covering methods of constructing plain figures, machine drawings, tinting, and the drawing of tracings for blue printing. The object will be to become familiar with the use of instruments, the training of the hand and eye, and the use of the scale in making and measuring drawings. This makes an excellent preparation for entrance to the technical school. Text, Morris.

Descriptive Geometry.—This course requires a knowledge of the former. It treats of Orthographic and Isometric projection, of points, planes and surfaces with their intersections, etc. The method of treatment is by demonstrations and accurately drawn plates. Text, MacCord. Mechanical Drawing and Descriptive Geometry constitute three terms' work.

Graduation in the Business School.—To obtain the diploma of the Business School of the University, a student must present passing grades in all the common school branches, (see Normal, First Year, page 54 f). If the candidate can present a county teacher's certificate, that will be preferred as evidence of the successful passing of the common school branches. If he does not, grades from teachers showing that he has passed these branches will be accepted, provided no one of the grades is lower than 60 in a scale of 100. Any of the branches of this kind not yet taken may be taken here in connection with Business Studies. Any one of the three terms in Theory and Practice will suffice.

Next, the student must complete four of the six courses as given above.

ELOCUTION.

JOHN G. SCORER, M. O.

- I. Teacher's Course. Through training in Vocal Culture, Respiration, Principles of Orthoepy, Principles of Expression, English Grammar, Rhetoric, Principles of Gesture, Physical Culture,

The Art of Fencing, Dramatic Reading and Recitation, Shakespeare, Shakespearean Grammar, Philosophy of the Voice, Science of English Verse, English Literature, Delsarte Philosophy, Bible and Hymn Reading, Dialect Readings and Character Impersonations.

This Course is designed to cover two terms of thirty private and thirty class lessons each, and is intended to fit pupils for teaching in public schools and colleges.

Pupils devoting their entire time to this work may take three private lessons per week; those taking regular college work, one lesson per week in addition to their college work.

This Course leads to the degree of Bachelor of Science of Elocution.

2. Professional Course. Consists of the Teachers' Course and two additional terms of thirty private and thirty class lessons each. It takes further advanced training, is wider in its scope, more exhaustive in its details and more varied in its branches. This Course is intended to fit pupils for teaching and for public performances. Pupils are earnestly recommended to take this Course that they may secure the best results attainable. Total number of lessons in Course, 240. The Course leads to the Degree of Bachelor of Elocution.
3. Ministerial Course. Aims to impart ease to the speaker in presence of an audience, to develop and purify the voice, rendering it clear, full, sympathetic and powerful. Special attention is given to reading of the Bible and Hymn Book, the Liturgy and Sermons. The complete Course consists of two terms, thirty private lessons each.
4. Speaker's Course. For lawyers, students and public speakers generally,—for all who desire to acquire a good form of oratorical address. Complete Course consists of two terms of thirty lessons each.
5. General Classes. Will be formed and conducted throughout the college year. All classes are free to students taking up private work.

For further information address the president or professor in charge.

Special catalogue of Elocution Department sent upon request.

HONORARY DEGREES.

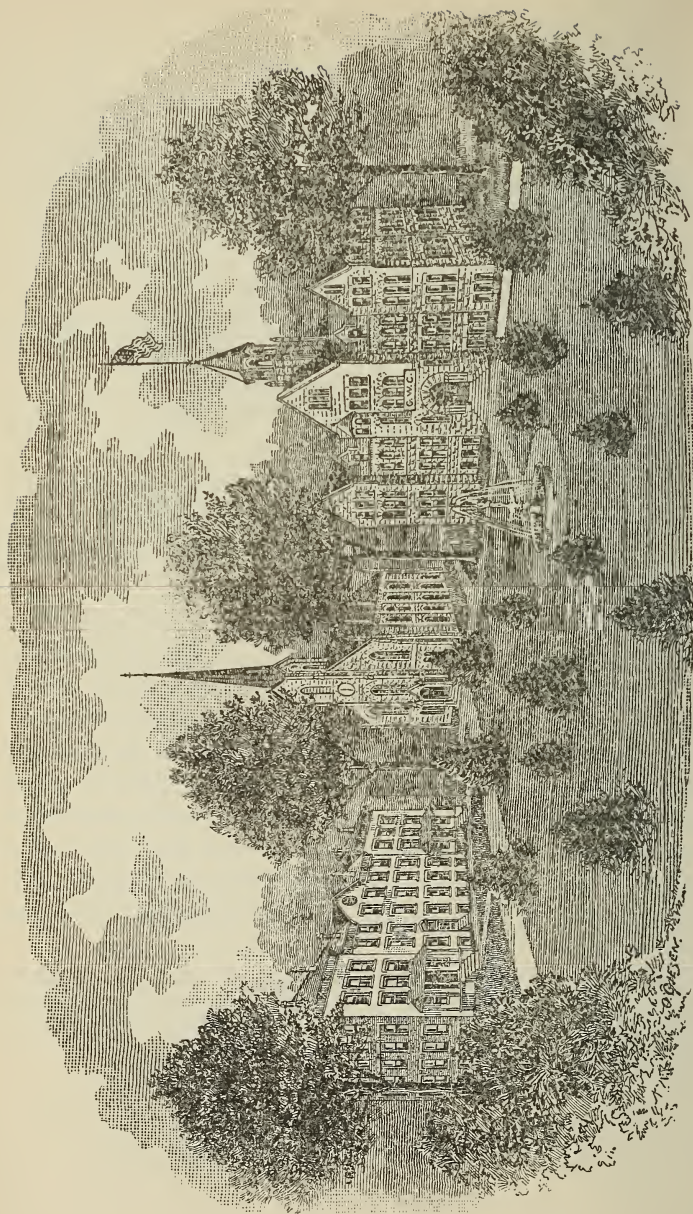

The Degree of Doctor of Philosophy will not be conferred by this institution.

The Master's degree is conferred only in cursu, and on the following conditions :

1. That no person be deemed eligible to the Master's degree unless he be a regular graduate of a reputable college with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, of Science, of Philosophy, or of Letters.

2. That after graduation as a bachelor he be required to complete an advanced Course of study of one year in residence, pass a satisfactory examination and present a thesis which shall give evidence of ability to prosecute independent investigation; or, if residence be impracticable, that he be required to pursue and complete a prescribed two years Course of study in some one department, pass a satisfactory examination thereon, at the seat of the college, and present and maintain a thesis of at least four thousand words on some subject previously approved by the examiner, and connected with the Course of study.

The above conditions are those recommended by the College Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which were formally adopted by the faculty of this university as rules to govern in the cases named.

STATEMENT.

The Baldwin University School of Music is fast becoming widely and favorably known as a school of sterling merit in the practical development of musical culture and technic. The courses of instruction represent the results of experience in every important institution of musical learning in the world. The instructors are all widely recognized as successful artists in their several departments, and bring before the student the authority and confidence of practical experience in class and concert room.

ADVANTAGES.

The nearness of Berea to Cleveland enables the student to hear all the great artists of the world. All the art resources of a great city like Cleveland can be made available for the training and culture of the students of the University.

SCHOOL CONCERTS.

Recitals are given by students of the school. A Quarterly Concert is given at the close of each term, and the Annual Concert at the close of the year. The systematic study of the works of a Master Composer, or of music of a particular period or class, for the purpose of public recital, incites the student to deeper interest and greater earnestness of purpose, as the inexhaustible wealth of material for possible conquest is systematically opened to view; and by no more efficient means may breadth of style and conception be nourished and increased.

PIANO.

Correct methods from the first lesson in piano playing are of the utmost importance. Early habits of study determine the capacity of the advanced player for good execution and artistic expression, and such habits can only be formed by the clear explanations, judicious corrections and good example of a skillful teacher.

The study of Piano-forte is one of the most important parts of a musical education. It is indispensable to the singer, as with a knowledge of the piano he can better arrive at the full meaning of a vocal composition. As a preparation to the study of Organ playing, it cannot be dispensed with. To students of composition, an acquaintance with the great works in Sonata form is absolutely necessary for the formation of style, and these can only be intelligently studied by the use of the piano. The best editions of the Studies used throughout the Piano Course have been carefully selected and placed in the Library of the School for the use of students. Piano students in order to graduate must have studied Harmony and Musical Expression.

PIPE ORGAN.

Baldwin University now offers to students who wish to make a study of Organ playing, advantages unsurpassed in any part of the country.

The demand for good Organists is rapidly increasing, therefore, a systematic course of instruction is provided. It is the aim of the course to give instruction not only in the line of solo playing, but also with a view to fitting the pupil for practical church work.

A two-manual Pipe Organ has been placed in the College for the use of pupils.

VOICE CULTURE.

Voice training is given especial prominence and attention in this institution, particular care being taken to develop pure vowel sounds, and rich, resonant tones. The Course of Study is broad and comprehensive, giving every possible aid to the rapid and natural strengthening of the organs without forcing, and to the awakening of an artistic sense and poetic feeling in the expression of musical ideas.

The University's collection of Vocal studies is not surpassed in this country. These studies are supplied by the school Library upon payment of a small rental. In this way the students become acquainted with many valuable works without the great outlay necessary to their purchase. In addition to the Five Grades in the Vocal Course, the student is required to have studied Harmony five terms, Musical Expression two terms. Sight reading is given careful attention.

CHORAL CLASS.

The Choral Class is an organization of the students for instruction and drill in choral and church music. This class is under the direction of Professor W. C. Howell. The past year has been marked with unusual interest on the part of the students in vocal music. Whenever it is desired, classes will be formed for training in the elements of music. The expense connected with this class is merely nominal.

SPECIAL VOCAL CLASSES.

Young ladies' classes. When a sufficient number desire it classes will be formed in vocal instruction. The work will be of an elementary kind, and consist of instruction in formation of tones, in respiration, in articulation, in sight reading. Songs and duets will be studied. See Terms, page 30.

HARMONY.

What Grammar and Syntax are to language, Theory, Harmony, etc., are to Music. Without them broad musicianship is impossible, and this is the reason why no music school of repute will graduate pupils that have not acquired at least a reasonable knowledge of Harmony. The work will be pursued on broad lines. In connection with the text book, practical work will also be required.

ORCHESTRAL INSTRUMENTS.

A complete course of study, under teachers of the first rank, is provided for the Violin, the Flute, the Cornet, the Harp, the Guitar, the Zither and the Mandolin.

MUSICAL EXPRESSION.

A careful study of the Theory of Musical Expression, based upon the principles formulated by Lussy and Christiani. This course is valuable to students in all branches, and proves highly interesting and profitable, showing results of marked improvements in the playing and singing of those who complete it. All students are required to study two terms of ten lessons.

PRACTICE.

Habits of regular practice must be observed in order to gain satisfactory results. The lesson hour becomes a useless waste of time and energy unless carefully prepared for.

Missed lessons will not be excused unless excuse is granted before the lesson hour.

DIPLOMAS.

Diplomas will be conferred on students who have pursued the prescribed course. It is required that an entire programme of standard music shall be interpreted during the last term of the senior year.

In addition to the study of voice or some special instrument, the prescribed studies are as follows:

1. Harmony (five terms).
2. Musical expression (two terms).
3. Quartette, or Choral Training, sufficient to enable the student to take charge of a choir or choral organization and successfully direct their practice and musical service.

Vocal students must have mastered the Piano Course through the third grade to enable them to play accompaniments and to pursue higher theoretical studies.

CONCERTS AND RECITALS.

There will be a concert given at the end of each term, and public and private recitals by the students during each term.

CERTIFICATES.

Certificates are conferred on vocal or instrumental students who have reached the third grade of study.

Fee, $1.00.

Advanced students who do not wish to take a full course will be given a certificate. Such students must have attended three consecutive terms. Two terms in Harmony and one term in Musical Expression must be included in this course, except in cases of unusual proficiency.

VIOLIN AND VIOLA.

No instrument is so well adapted to the expression of every shade of feeling as the violin.

This school not only strives to attain technical proficiency but broad musicianship as well.

The course of study is the Herman System. This system is used in the celebrated Royal Conservatory at Leipsic. The course is varied according to the personal needs of each student. Great care is used in the instruction of beginners.

Classes will be formed in ensemble playing and opportunities given to sufficiently advanced pupils for orchestral practice.

For advanced pupils the Etudes of Krenjer, Forillo, Rhode, Gavines, Danclo, Alard and David are used, together with such concert pieces as are adapted for each individual.

MANDOLIN.

This is fast becoming an attractive and popular instrument for which the most modern and practical methods are used.

FINE ARTS.

MRS. MARY McD. SANTLEY, Instructor.

DRAWING:

- 1.—A beginners' class in freehand drawing will be organized each term.
- 2.—Careful attention will be given to advanced work in freehand drawing.
- 3.—When the season permits, a class will be formed and instruction given in outdoor sketching.

OIL PAINTING:

- 4.—Lessons from still life and in landscape painting. It will be the aim to give to each student a most thorough and patient training in seeing color, form and texture, and in the use of a technique that will reproduce the beauty and truth of nature.
- 5.—Instruction in water colors and china decoration. The school is provided with draperies and casts to draw from, without extra charge to the pupil.

Art may be taken by students in the Literary Course, and in preparatory courses, be counted towards the degree, and is elective in all other of the Courses, though in them not allowed to count towards a degree.

CASE SCHOOL OF APPLIED SCIENCE.

We are able to bring the advantages of one of the foremost schools of applied science in the country within the reach of the young men who, by reason of their limited means, would be unable to pursue a four or seven years' course in the Case School itself.

By arrangement between the authorities of Case School and Baldwin University, students can pursue in Baldwin University through the Freshman year a scientific course equivalent to that in Case School, and then will be admitted to the Sophomore year of the Case School on certificate.

CHARACTER AND PURPOSE OF THE LAW SCHOOL.

The Baldwin University Law School is open to all who possess the requisite qualifications, and who are desirous of availing themselves of its advantages. Its course of instruction and training is believed to be quite as broad and thorough as that of the best Law Colleges in the country. But it has been organized and is conducted more especially for the purpose of affording young men and women who are engaged in offices and business houses during the day an opportunity to pursue a regular course of law studies under proper instruction. Its sessions are, therefore, held each week-day evening between the hours of seven and nine o'clock, each class meeting alternate evenings.

At the opening of the school year in September, 1898, it will enter upon its second year with its facilities for affording to its pupils a thorough legal training correspondingly enlarged.

Being a department of the well known and established Baldwin University has brought it within the helpful influence, and secured for it the active co-operation of the University and its Faculty, and its success has been all that the University could desire, and has demonstrated that there was need for something of this kind in the city of Cleveland.

The course, which consists of three years, in all of which there will be classes the ensuing year, is designed to be sufficiently thorough to fit those who avail themselves of it for admission to the Bar, and due reference has also been made to the requirements of those who may desire to pursue a course of Law studies as preparatory to entering upon other professions or business avocations.

The students in this course are required to carefully read and study the text books included in the course, and instruction is given in the form of thorough examination and quizzes of the classes upon lessons previously assigned, together with oral explanations and illustrations of the various topics then presented for consideration. To this will be added occasional exercises in preparation of pleadings and in the discussion, by the students, under the supervision and direction of the Faculty, of matter of pleading and practice, and other questions of law, arising upon cases especially assigned. Courses of lectures will also be given during the year illustrative of the subjects in the prescribed course of study, by members of the University Faculty, and by distinguished members of the bench and bar.

A Junior Class will be formed at the commencement of the year, and students who have already pursued a course of law studies equivalent to that assigned to the Junior year and are able to pass a satisfactory examination, upon the same, may be admitted to advanced standing.

Students from other Law Schools may be admitted to advanced standing upon the production of a satisfactory certificate showing the period of their attendance upon such law schools and their proficiency in the studies they pursued.

Special attention will be given the Senior year toward fitting students to pass the examination for admission to the bar, and there will be much practical work in preparing pleadings, and the trial of cases before the Moot Court, which will be under the charge of the Faculty of the school.

COURSE OF STUDY.

JUNIOR YEAR.

Blackstone's Commentaries, Walker's American Law, Clark on Contracts, Norton on Bills and Notes, Mechem on Agency, George on Partnership.

MIDDLE YEAR.

Bispham's Principles of Equity, Hopkins on Real Property, Greenleaf on Evidence, Clark on Criminal Law, Schouler on Bailments, Burdick on Sales, Cooley on Torts.

SENIOR YEAR.

Cooley's Constitutional Law, Schouler on Wills, Clark on Corporations, Phillips on Pleading, Schouler on Domestic Relations, Practical Work in Drafting Instruments and in Pleading, Ohio Statute Law, Legal Ethics, Moot Courts.

The Faculty reserve the right to modify the foregoing course of study, or to substitute other subjects or text books, at any time, as they may deem proper.

CLASSES AND SCHOOL YEAR.

Each of the three years of the course will contain two terms, the first term commencing, for the coming year, on the 21st day of September, 1898, and ending on the 3rd day of February, 1899, the second term commencing on the 6th day of February, 1899, and ending on the 17th day of June, following. There will be a short vacation during the Christmas Holidays.

Students on presenting proper credentials may enter the first year class, and those who have already pursued a legal course, may, upon examination or presentation of satisfactory certificates from other law schools, be given advanced standing.

QUALIFICATIONS OF STUDENTS.

Applicants for admission to any of the classes must have at least a common school education. Graduates of colleges and high schools may be admitted upon presentation of diploma, but others must satisfy the Faculty of their ability to pursue the course of study with profit to themselves and credit to the school.

No distinction is made in the admission of students on account of sex or color. The only qualifications are educational and moral fitness.

Students desiring to take certain branches of the prescribed course for special training in business or other pursuits, may be permitted to enter at any time for that purpose and pursue such studies as they may elect, after satisfactory arrangements have been made.

ADVANTAGES OF LOCATION.

The City of Cleveland is noted for its many excellent schools and colleges and is rapidly becoming a great educational as well as a business center. It is easily accessible from every quarter and it is in close connection with nearly all the towns and cities of Northern Ohio. It has a large number of courts of record wherein questions embracing nearly every phase of legal principles are constantly arising, thus affording to students exceptional advantages for becoming acquainted with the application of law in all its varied forms.

Students are enabled to obtain employment in the hundreds of business houses and law offices in the city, and thus receive valuable experience, besides earning enough during the day to defray a portion, or all, of their expenses.

The school is now located in commodious quarters in the Case Library Building, one of the most central and desirable places in the city.

DIPLOMA.

At the end of the three years' course, upon final and successful examination, the student will receive a diploma from the trustees of Baldwin University, conferring the degree of Bachelor of Laws (LL. B.).

CHARGE FOR TUITION.

No matriculation fee will be charged. The charge for tuition will be Fifty Dollars per year, one half payable at the time of the student's entrance at the first term, the remainder at the beginning of the second term.

A fee of five dollars will be charged for diploma.

For further information relating to the school call on, or address, the secretary, Willis Vickery, Esq., 709 Cuyahoga Building, Cleveland, Ohio. Phone, Main, 2063.

CHARTER.

An Act to Incorporate the Baldwin Institute, Middleburg, Cuyahoga County.

WHEREAS, Mr. John Baldwin, of Middleburg, Cuyahoga County, Ohio, has made a generous donation to the North Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, for the cause of education, consisting of land, and a suitable building thereon, for a seminary of learning ; and whereas, said conference having accepted the said donation, and intend establishing there an institution for the promotion of general education ; therefore,

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That, Thomas Thompson, William Runnells, Wesley J. Wells, William C. Peirce, Wesley Brock, Lorenzo Warner, Holden Dwight, John Baldwin, Alfred Holbrook, Lonson Brown, Horace F. Adams, Ancil J. Pope, and Isaac Ward, and their successors, be, and they are hereby created a body politic and corporate with perpetual succession, by the name and style of the Trustees of the Baldwin Institute ; that, by their corporate name aforesaid, they may contract and be contracted with, sue and be sued, plead and be impleaded in any court of competent jurisdiction, in any manner of action whatsoever, may have a common seal, may change or renew the same at pleasure, and shall hold their offices until their successors are appointed.

SEC. 2. That the successors of the above named trustees shall be appointed by the North Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church, or by such conference of said church as may hereafter include said institution within its bounds.

SEC. 3. That said trustees and successors shall be capable of receiving, acquiring, and holding by gift, grant, purchase or otherwise, any real estate, real, personal or mixed, to the amount of three thousand dollars, of annual income, may sell, dispose of and convey the same, provided such property be not diverted from the express will of the donor.

SEC. 4. The said trustees shall have the power to establish an institution of learning, with a male and female department ; elect all members of the faculty thereof, except the president or principal, who shall be appointed by the aforesaid conference ; prescribe the course of study ; make all rules, regulations and by-laws which they may deem expedient for the government of the said institution ; and transact all business of said corporation ; provided, the same be not inconsistent with the laws and constitution of this State or of the United States.

SEC. 5. A majority of the board of trustees, at any regularly called meeting, shall constitute a quorum for the transaction of business.

SEC. 6. The trustees shall have the power to elect from their own number, a president, secretary and treasurer, who shall perform the duties severally pertaining to their offices.

SEC. 7. That any future legislature may alter or amend this act, provided that the title of any property acquired or conveyed under its provisions, shall not be affected thereby, nor diverted from the literary, scientific and benevolent purposes originally designed.

ENLARGEMENT OF THE BOARD.

According to instructions given by the board, at their last annual meeting, the following bill to increase the membership of the board of trustees was passed by the General Assembly of Ohio.

HOUSE BILL, NO. 571.

AN ACT to amend section 3752 of the Revised Statutes of Ohio,
SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the General Assembly of the State of Ohio, That section 3752 of the Revised Statutes of Ohio be so amended as to read as follows: Section 3752. After such acceptance, the board shall certify the same to the patronizing conference or other religious body having the right to elect or appoint trustees of such university or other institution of learning, at the next meeting of such conference or religious body; and thereafter the board shall consist of twenty-one trustees elected or appointed, and the president of such university or other institution of learning, who shall be ex-officio a member of the board; such elected or appointed trustees shall be divided into three classes of seven members each.

At the first election or appointment after such acceptance, one of such classes shall be elected or appointed for one year, one for two years, and one for three years; and in all subsequent elections or appointments each of the classes of trustees shall be elected or appointed for three years, but no term of office of any such trustee shall expire during any meeting of the board which does not continue more than two weeks. Ten members of the board shall constitute a quorum, and all vacancies which occur in any class of trustees otherwise than by the expiration of the term of office shall be filled only for the remainder of the term; provided that any such university or other institution of learning, having heretofore accepted the provision of original sections 3751 and 3752 may increase its board of trustees by electing or appointing two additional members in each of the classes of trustees herein provided for.

SEC. 2. Said original section 3752 is hereby repealed.

SEC. 3. This act shall take effect on its passage.

ELBERT L. LAMPSON,
Speaker of the House of Representatives.

WILLIAM C. LYON,
President of the Senate.

Passed March 30, 1888.

GIFTS AND BEQUESTS.

The foundation of nearly all of our colleges has been laid by the benevolence of Christian people. There is perhaps no better way to promote the welfare of the church, the State, and the individual, than by means of the schools and colleges which give sound training under distinctly Christian influences.

Baldwin University calls for increased liberality, especially from the churches and the conference which control its affairs.

For the convenience of those who wish to make a devise or bequest of their property to Baldwin University, we append herewith a proper form:

IN THE NAME OF THE BENEVOLENT FATHER OF ALL.

I, A.....B... .., of....., do make and publish this, my last will and testament, as follows:

Item First—I give and devise, etc.

Item Second—I give and devise to “THE TRUSTEES of BALDWIN UNIVERSITY,” and its successors and assigns forever the following lands and tenements (description), in..... county, in the State of.....

Item Third—I give and bequeath to “THE TRUSTEES OF BALDWIN UNIVERSITY,” the sum of.....dollars, to be paid by my executor out of my estate within.....months after my decease.

In testimony whereof, I hereunto subscribe my name and affix my seal, this.....day of....., A. D.....

{ Seal. }

A..... B.....

Signed and acknowledged by the above named A.....
B.....testator, as his last will and testament, in our presence; and signed by us in his presence, and at his request, as subscribing witnesses to the foregoing last will and testament at the date last aforesaid.

LIFE ANNUITY.

The University desires to call especial attention to its Annuity Plan, which is a very desirable investment for those who wish to enjoy an income from their property during life, and to leave it to an educational institution at their death.

The University will receive money, stocks, bonds and other personal property, also productive real estate, and pay to the grantor or donor during life a reasonable annuity. Said annuity is paid in semi-annual installments, and is free from taxes.

Fuller information can be obtained at any time by writing to the President of the University.

UNIVERSITY CAMPUS AND BUILDINGS.

The University is located on a new campus of about twenty acres, near the center of the village, and within ten minutes' walk of the railway station. The electric street railway between Berea and Cleveland passes in front of the campus. German Wallace College is only a few steps distant.

RECITATION HALL.

This building is constructed of Berea stone and has three stories above the basement. The building has nine classrooms and an Assembly room. The class-room seats are tablet chairs. The Assembly room seats are opera chairs.

THE PHILURA GOULD BALDWIN MEMORIAL LIBRARY.

This memorial building is a gift to the University by Mr. and Mrs. John Baldwin, Jr., in memory of their beloved daughter, Philura Gould Baldwin, who fell asleep March 6, 1892.

Miss Baldwin was not only a graduate of the University, but was the first librarian under present organization of the library, which by her intelligent and self-sacrificing labor was brought to an excellent state.

The plan for the building is worthy of its name and purpose. It has the chief merits of the best modern library buildings. Like the Recitation Hall, this building is constructed entirely of Berea stone. The basement story is arranged for the storage, packing and unpacking of books. The first floor is the library room proper, and has a capacity of from 30,000 to 50,000 volumes. Here will be found not only current periodicals and papers, but books of reference and other books that may be of use to students making special preparation in any department of study. The dimensions are about 41 by 66 feet. The rooms are abundantly lighted and tastefully finished.

LADIES' HALL.

Ladies' Hall is of Berea stone. It is heated by steam. The basement story is occupied by the college dining hall.

Ladies' Hall is the home for the young women students of the University. The preceptress gives thoughtful and sympathetic care to the young women, whether in sickness or in health.

ATHLETIC FIELD.

Ample grounds have been set apart on the new campus for base ball field, foot-ball field and tennis courts.

GENERAL INFORMATION.

LOCATION.

Berea, wherein Baldwin University is located, is a thriving and healthful village of three thousand inhabitants in Cuyahoga County, Ohio, twelve miles southwest from the public square of Cleveland.

It is an educational center, having Baldwin University, German Wallace College, the German Methodist Orphan Asylum, and superior public schools.

It has representatives of the following churches : Methodist Episcopal (English and German), Congregational, Protestant Episcopal, German Lutheran and Roman Catholic.

It has no saloons within its limits. The sentiment of the village is strongly in favor of the local option law now in force.

It is lighted by electric lights. It is connected with Cleveland by an electric street railway.

It is easy of access by means of the Lake Shore & Michigan Southern, the Cleveland, Cincinnati, Chicago & St. Louis, and the Cleveland, Lorain & Wheeling railways. Passengers from Cleveland by electric line should take Cleveland and Berea street cars at Public Square, opposite the Soldiers' Monument. Cars leave at half-past every hour.

CO-EDUCATION.

From the opening of the institution, 1846, young men and young women have been admitted to all its departments on equal terms.

DEPARTMENTS.

I. The College of Liberal Arts—which has four courses of study :

1. The Classical Course.
2. The Philosophical Course.
3. The Scientific Course.
4. The Literary Course.

II. The Collegiate Preparatory Department.

III. The Art Department.

IV. The Music Department.

RELIGION.

1. Baldwin University belongs to the North Ohio Conference of the Methodist Episcopal Church.

2. Chapel services are held every school-day morning, and attendance is required. Attendance upon church services Sunday is required.

3. There is a young Men's Christian Association, which maintains social religious meetings every week. There is also a Young Women's Christian Association, whose work is parallel to that of the Young Men's Association.

THE LITERARY SOCIETIES.

There are four Literary Societies in connection with the college, namely: The Phrenocosmian, the Philozetian, the Clionian, and the Alethean. The first two are for young men, and the last two for young women. They meet on Monday evening or Friday evening.

THE LIBRARY.

The Philura Gould Baldwin Memorial Library (a description of the building is given elsewhere) comprises many volumes well selected for uses of undergraduate students, and possesses a considerable collection of more general character. The Dewey system of classification is used. The reading room is furnished with the best papers and magazines.

THE LABORATORIES.

The Chemical Laboratory is equipped with a complete outfit of chemicals and apparatus for work in general chemistry and qualitative analysis.

Each student is assigned a desk and performs his laboratory work individually, under the direction of the instructor.

The Biological Laboratory is supplied with Leitz microscopes, each having an Abbe condenser and an iris diaphragm and other accessories.

There is also a good microtome imported from Germany.

The material needed for study is furnished to the student.

THE GOVERNMENT.

The government of the College relies upon the good character of the students. Students who come as strangers should bring certificates of good moral character.

The faculty will dismiss any student without notice to the parents, when in their judgment the welfare of the College requires such action.

ROOMS AND BOARDING.

Young men room in homes in the village, places of lodging and boarding being subject to the approval of the Faculty.

Whether in private families or in the halls of the College, students are held responsible for the proper care of furniture and other property.

Young women must room and board in Ladies' Hall, unless they room at the home of parents, guardians, or relatives, or unless their parents request, with sufficient reason, that they be permitted to room in the village.

Each student in Ladies' Hall is expected to furnish her own towels, napkins and napkin-ring, two sheets and two pillow cases, one pillow, two comfortables, one spread, and two teaspoons.

SUGGESTIONS TO NEW STUDENTS.

1. Arrive in Berea the day before the term opens.
2. The street car at the station passes in front of the College building. The conductors will, if asked, give new students needed information.
3. Persons desiring to be met at the station by some one connected with the College, should inform the President by letter of the time of their arrival.

COURSES OF STUDY.

CONDITIONS OF ADMISSION.

Candidates for admission to any department of the College must present satisfactory testimonials of good moral character. Those coming from other colleges must present a certificate of honorable dismissal, and give satisfactory evidence of being qualified for the classes which they purpose to enter.

1. The requirements for admission to the Freshman class are the studies of the Preparatory Department, or their equivalents.

2. Students from other colleges will be received on their certificates without examination, and be ranked upon showing of grades, independent of rank held in colleges from which they come.

3. A student from any good public school will receive credit on a certificate from his teacher, according to the nature and amount of work which he has done.

4. Application by a person not in residence, for admission to the senior class, must be made not later than the beginning of the college year in which the applicant desires to be graduated.

EXPLANATION OF COURSES.

Classes recite five days in a week, Tuesdays, Wednesdays, Thursdays, Fridays, Saturdays. There are no college exercises on Mondays, except Literary Society work.

The word "course" is used in two senses; in the first it denotes one of the four, Classical, Philosophical, Scientific, Literary, which lead to degrees. When used in this sense it will be printed with a capital letter. In the second it denotes one-fourth of one year's work; as, a course in Mathematics means one study (as Algebra), pursued through the three terms of a college year. In this sense, a student takes four courses per year; as Latin, Greek, Mathematics, History.

The capital letters, A B C D E F G, are used to denote the courses in a given subject, if there be more than one course in that branch. The various courses will be exhibited in detail in the following pages. See page 33 and following.

If a person wishes to know, for example, what Latin D consists of, he must refer to the subject Latin, page 35, where under Latin D he will find that Horace's Odes and Epodes in the fall, Horace's Satires and Epistles in the winter, and Cicero's Cato Major and Lælius in the spring, compose the course.

The same explanations apply also to the Normal Courses. The requirement of a county certificate in the Normal work means that examination in Common School branches by county examiners must be passed as a condition for completion of the Normal course. A certificate from any county in Ohio will be accepted. Certificates from other states will be considered on their merits. Persons who have taken common school branches in the university and obtained a county certificate, may, upon application, receive a certificate from the university. Students who have completed the Normal course will receive a diploma.

Recitations in the Preparatory and Normal and College classes last fifty minutes, the remaining ten minutes of each hour being allowed for intermission.

Figures 2, 3, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11 denote rooms in which recitations occur.
 G. W. C. denotes recitations held in German Wallace College.

Students, except those in common branches, may not take more than four studies per term, though Music or Art may be taken in addition to those four. Students in Literary Course may take both Music and Art.

Students must obtain consent of faculty in order to be allowed to take out studies in absentia. The request must state the class to which the student belongs, and must name the studies to be thus taken. The amount of study thus to be taken must not exceed one-fourth of that year's work; the student must take out in advance the ticket entitling to instruction and examinations; for each ticket he must pay $3.00. Time and place of taking the examination to be agreed upon by the applicant and professor in charge of the department to which the study belongs.

Students while in college may make up work by private study and private examination. The amount of work thus made up must not exceed one study per term. The student must, at beginning of the term, obtain consent of faculty to take work in this way.

As a rule, students must remain in college for any given term until their examinations have closed. Should circumstances require their leaving before examinations, a request to faculty should be made for privilege of private examination. If granted, the applicant must pay a fee of $1.00 to the professor or tutor conducting such examination.

Students are expected to pursue systematic courses in choosing electives. In advance of their entering upon Junior year studies, they should know what they will elect. In order to make wise use of their privileges, students are entitled to seek advice from members of faculty. Unregulated choice will not be allowed.

In order to prevent confusion and defeat in carrying out elective courses, students should carefully consult the Recitation Schedule, to see whether all studies they propose to take can be taken without conflict, not only for a term, or a year, but also throughout the years through which the course will run.

The Recitation Schedules are permanent. Two studies placed at the same hour cannot both be taken the same year. Alternations between classes will not be allowed. Therefore, choice of studies must always have reference to Recitation Schedules.

Departments of Instruction.

PHILOSOPHY.

PRESIDENT WARNER.

1899-1900. D. (Freshman).—In the fall term Hyde's Practical Ethics will be studied. In the winter term Ladd's Primer of Psychology. And in the spring term an introduction to metaphysics as given by St. George Mivart's "The Helpful Science." This course, known as Philosophy D., will be required in the Freshman year in the Philosophical Course. It will be elective for any of the college classes of the Literary Course, and in Classical and Scientific Courses elective for Juniors and Seniors.

1900-1. E. (Sophomore).—In the fall and winter terms the textbook used will be James's Briefer Course in Psychology, followed in the spring term with Metaphysics, Bowne. Reference books: McCosh's First and Fundamental Truths, Bradley's Appearance and Reality, Royce's Spirit of Modern Philosophy. This course is required of Sophomores in Philosophical Course, is elective for students in Literary Course in any college year, and elective for Juniors and Seniors in Classical and Scientific Courses.

1899-1900. F. (Junior).—Three terms, fall, winter and spring, devoted to obtaining a general historical outline of the entire field of Philosophical study. Reference books: Weber's History of Philosophy, Schwegler's History of Philosophy, George Henry Lewes's Biographical History of Philosophy, Windelband's History of Philosophy, Falckenberg's History of Modern Philosophy. Required in Junior year of Philosophical Course, elective for Juniors and Seniors in all other Courses, and for students of all years in the Literary Course.

1900-1. G. (Senior).—Ethics is studied in the fall term. As a text-book, Hyslop's Elements of Ethics, or Mackenzie's Manual of Ethics will be used. References: Bowne's Principles of Ethics; Spencer's Data of Ethics; Muirhead's Elements of Ethics. In the winter term an outline study of Religions will be made, with special reference to the comparison of other religions with the Christian religion; Text, Menzie's History of Religions. In the spring term, International Law, with Woolsey's as a text-book; for reference, Wheaton. This course is required in Philosophical Course, Senior year; is elective in any year of Literary Course, and in Junior and Senior years, of Classical and Scientific Courses.

PROFESSOR MATTISON.

GA. (Senior).—This is a special course required in the Literary, elective in the other Courses, in Junior and Senior years. In the fall term Jevons' Lessons in Logic; in the winter term, Political Economy, Walker, supplemented by references to Newcomb, Perry, Ely, Gide, Bowen, and others. In Social Science, which is taught in the spring, Henderson's "The Social Spirit in America," will furnish the basis for the class's work, with references to the abundant literature of the subject in the Library.

LATIN.

PROFESSOR MATTISON.

- A. (Junior Preparatory Latin).—Coy's Latin Lessons is used throughout the year. This course is required in Junior Preparatory work, in the Classical, Philosophical and Literary Courses, and is elective in the Scientific Course in any year.
- B. (Middle Preparatory Latin).—In the fall, Cæsar's Commentaries are read, and in the winter and spring, Cicero's Orations. Throughout this year a weekly exercise is given in Prose Composition, in addition to the daily oral work based on the text read. Jones's Prose Composition, Allen & Greenough's, Kelsey's, or Harkness's text-books. Studies in Roman life and literature are pursued through the year. This course is required in Classical, Philosophical and Literary Courses, and is elective in any year of the Scientific.

C. (Senior Preparatory Latin.)—Ovid's Metamorphoses in the fall term, and Virgil's Æneid in winter and spring terms. For the first-named, Allen & Greenough's texts; for the last, Greenough's or Harper & Miller's are used. This course is required in Classical, Philosophical and Literary Courses, and is elective in any year of the Scientific.

D. (Freshman Latin.)—In the fall term are read Horace's Odes and Epodes. Text, Shorey, Smith, or Chase & Stuart. In the winter term Horace's Satires and Epistles, with Kirkland, Greenough, or Chase & Stuart, as texts, are read. In the spring term are read Cicero's Cato Major and Lælius; Bennett, Stickney, or Chase & Stuart. This course is required in Philosophical and Classical Courses, and is elective in any year of the Scientific and Literary. Readings at sight from Martial and Aulus Gellius are required.

1901-2. EA. (First Sophomore Course.)—In the fall term Juvenal's Satires, Lindsay, or Chase & Stuart; in the winter term, Tacitus's Germania and Agricola, Hopkins or Chase & Stuart; in the spring term, Cicero's De Officiis, Stickney or Chase & Stuart, text.

1899-1900. EB. (Second Sophomore Course.)—In the fall term Cicero's Brutus; in winter, Quintilian, Books X and XII; in spring, Cicero's De Oratore.

1900-1. EC. (Third Sophomore Course.)—In the fall, Cicero's De Natura Deorum; in winter, Plautus's Pseudolus and Terence's Adelphoe; in spring Cicero's Tusculan Disputations.

Of the E courses one is required in Classical and Philosophical Courses, while the others are elective in any year of the Scientific or Literary, and in Junior and Senior years of the Classical and Philosophical Courses.

THE NATURAL SCIENCES.

PROFESSOR SMITH.

B. (Middle Preparatory.)—Elements of Physics, fall and winter terms, Botany, spring term. Text in Physics: Elements of Physics—Carhart and Chute. Text in Botany: School and Field Botany—Gray.

C. (Senior Preparatory.)—Physiology, fall term; Physical Geography, winter and spring terms. Text in Physiology: The Human Body (Briefer Course)—Martin. Text in Physical Geography—Appleton's.

In all the Courses of Study except Literary, wherein course C is omitted, these Preparatory courses in the Natural Sciences are prescribed.

D. (Freshman.)—General Chemistry, fall and winter terms; Qualitative Analysis, spring term. The qualitative chemical analysis will consist of lectures and laboratory work, with instruction to the individual student. The General Chemistry is taught by lectures, recitations and laboratory work. Reference text: Introduction to the Study of Chemistry—Remsen.

E. (Sophomore.)—Zoölogy, fall term; Geology, winter and spring terms. The work in Zoölogy will be chiefly recitations with some lectures and anatomical demonstrations. Text: Comparative Zoölogy—Orton. Students in Zoölogy will be expected to have a knowledge of the elements of biology. Geology will be taught by lectures, field work and the study of specimens in the museum. References to required reading will be given. Reference text: Elements of Geology—Le Conte. Students in geology will be expected to have a knowledge of the elements of botany and of zoölogy.

F. (Junior.)—Physics in the fall and winter terms; Biology in the spring term. The work in Biology will be chiefly lectures and laboratory work. Students who expect to elect Science G, Physiology and Botany, are advised to take Biology. Text in Physics: Ganot's Physics, translated by Atkinson. Course F will be given only in alternate years. It will be given in the college year 1899-1900.

- G. 1900-1. (Senior).—Physiology, fall and winter terms; Botany, spring term. Text in Physiology: The Human Body (Advanced Course)—Martin. Students in Physiology will be expected to have a knowledge of general chemistry. The work in Botany will consist of the histology and physiology of plants and the analysis of some of the more difficult species. Course G will be given only in alternate years. It will be given in the college year 1900-1.

In the Scientific Course all of the courses in the Natural Sciences are prescribed. In the Classical and Philosophical Courses, Science Courses D and E are prescribed; F and G are elective. In the Literary Course $\frac{2}{3}$ D is prescribed; E F G are elective.

MODERN LANGUAGES.

GERMAN.

PROFESSOR WILKER AND MR. HANDSCHIN.

- B. (Middle Preparatory German).—The fall and winter terms consist of Lessons and Grammar. In the spring term, Easy Reading is begun in connection with continued practice in Grammar. Required in Philosophical Course; elective in any year of Scientific and Literary; elective in Junior and Senior years in Classical Course.
- C. (Senior Preparatory German).—In the fall term a modern story and Composition; in the winter term, a Modern Drama and Composition; in the spring term, Classical Drama and Composition. This course is required in the Philosophical Course, is elective in any year of the Literary and Scientific Courses, and in the Junior and Senior years of the Classical.
- D. (Freshman German).—The student, according to his attainments and needs, selects, after consulting the professor, a study from the following list: Deutsche Elementar-Grammatik, Hoehere

Deutsche Grammatik, Stitistik, Deutsche Literatur Geschichte, Voelker Kunde, Heilige Geschichte, Weltgeschichte, Deutsch Lesen. These studies are taught in German Wallace College (in German), and they are an excellent means for third year's students to acquire the German language thoroughly. This course is required in the Philosophical Course, elective in Junior and Senior years of the Classical, and in any year of the Literary and Scientific courses.

From the beginning of the German courses throughout the three years, conversations and dictations in German are employed in the classroom. In the Freshman year, German D, German is used in the recitations as the only language of communication between professor and class. By varying the texts in German C, and the classes in German D, it will be possible for students to obtain four or even more years of German, if more than the prescribed amounts are desired.

Schmit's German Grammar is used.

FRENCH.

PROFESSOR V. WILKER.

- E. (Sophomore.)—In fall and winter terms, First Lessons and Grammar; in the spring, Grammar and Easy Reading. This course is required in the Scientific and Literary Courses, and is elective in the Junior and Senior years in the Classical and Philosophical.
- F. (Junior.)—In the fall term, Modern Story and Composition; in the winter, Classical Drama and Composition; in the spring, History of French Literature in French. It will be possible for students who desire to obtain more than two years of French to do so, by having course F varied each year. Conversation and dictation throughout the whole of the above French courses. Course F is required of Literary and Scientific students, and is elective for Juniors and Seniors in the Classical and Philosophical courses.

Muzzarelli's French Course is used.

GREEK.

 PROFESSOR SCHNEIDER.

- B. (Middle Preparatory).—In the fall term, the First Greek Book, White; in the winter term, the same continued; in the spring term, Xenophon's Anabasis, Goodwin, in connection with Goodwin's grammar. This course is required in the Classical Course, is elective in any year of the Scientific and Literary Courses, and in the Junior and Senior years of the Philosophical Course.
- C. (Senior Preparatory).—In the fall term, the Anabasis continued in connection with Jones' Prose Composition; in the winter term, four books of the Anabasis and Jones' Prose are completed; in the spring term, three books of Homer's Iliad, Keep. This course is required in the Classical Course, is elective in any year of the Scientific and Literary Courses, and in the Junior and Senior years of the Philosophical Course.
- D. (Freshman).—In the fall term, Orations of Lysias, Shuckburg, followed by Demosthenes' De Corona, D'Ooge; in the winter term, the De Corona completed; in the spring term, Plato's Apology and Crito, Dyer. Collateral reading is required in each term's work. This course is required in the Classical Course, is elective in all other Courses.
- 1900-1. EA. (Sophomore).—In the fall term, Herodotus, the Persian Wars, Mather; in the winter term, Aeschylus, selected plays; in the spring term, Xenophon's Memorabilia, Winans, and Thucydides, Funeral Oration of Pericles, Mather. Collateral reading is required in each term's work. Students in the Classical Course must take one of the three courses offered in the Sophomore year, with the privilege of taking the remaining ones as electives in the Junior and Senior years. Courses Ea, Eb, and Ec are elective in all other courses.
- 1901-2. EB. (Sophomore).—In the fall term, Sophocles, selected plays; in the winter term, the story of Achilles from Homer's Iliad, in rapid reading with especial attention to literary value, text of Dindorf; in the spring term, Thucydides, Book I, Morris. Collateral reading is required in each term's work.

1899-0. EC. (Sophomore.)—In the fall term, Euripides, selected plays; in the winter term, selections from Homer's Odyssey, in rapid reading with especial attention to literary value, text of Dindorf; in the spring term, Greek Lyric Poets. Collateral reading is required in each term's work.

Arrangements are being made for a course in Greek History, Greek Life as studied from the monuments, and Greek Art. Further notice of this course will be given later.

HISTORY.

PROFESSOR EDDY.

A. (Junior Preparatory History.)—This course is required in all Courses. In the fall term, Ancient History is studied; in the winter term, Mediæval History; in the spring, Modern. The text in use is Fisher's.

1899-1900. EA. (First Sophomore History.)—Introduction to the Middle Ages, in the fall term, with Emerton's text; in the winter term, Montgomery's History of France; and in the spring term, the same author's History of England.

1900-1. EB. (Second Sophomore History.)—In the fall term, The Colonies, Thwaites; in the winter, Formation of the Union, Hart; in the spring, Wilson's Divison and Reunion. Throughout this course, special attention will be given to the sources, formation, and growth of the constitution, and to the history of political parties.

ENGLISH LANGUAGE AND LITERATURE.

PROFESSOR COLLIER.

A. (Junior Preparatory.)—In the fall and winter terms a general introduction to Literature is given by the study of Brooke's "Primer of English Literature." In the spring term, American Literature is treated in a similar manner with the "Primer of American Literature" by Mildred C. Watkins, as text. This course is required in all Courses.

Rhetoric A. (Junior Preparatory.)—In the fall term, Mead's Rhetoric; in the winter, Clark's; and in the spring, Clark's completed. The texts are selected with the purpose of giving clearness of theory, combined with much practice on all the points covered by practical Rhetoric. This course is required in the Junior Preparatory year of the Classical, Philosophical and Scientific Courses and in the Middle Preparatory year of the Literary.

D. I. II. (Freshman.)

1899-1900. D. I. Half Course. A careful study of the English Prose Writings of the XIXth Century is given by lectures, and by special study of the great masterpieces. Extended reading and reports are required. Two hours a week for the year.

D. II. Half Course. Rhetoric and Composition. Genung's "Practical Elements of Rhetoric" is used, and daily or fortnightly themes required. Two hours a week for the year. These two half courses are required in the Literary Course; elective in all years of the Scientific, and elective in Junior and Senior years of the Classical and Philosophical Courses.

E. I, II. (Sophomore.)

1900-I. E I. English Poetical writers of the XIXth Century. Required in the Literary Course; elective in all years of the Scientific, and in Junior and Senior Years in the Classical and Philosophical Courses.

E II. Gummere's "Handbook of Poetics" two hours a week, fall term. Whately's Rhetoric, two hours a week with argumentative themes, winter and spring terms.

1899-1900. FA. (Junior.) A general historical survey of the English Language and Literature. Required in all the Courses.

1899-1900. FB. (Junior.) Bible and American Literature. Bible Literature, Moulton's Literary Study of the Bible, fall term. Brander Matthew's "Introduction to American Literature," text, winter and spring terms. Elective in all Courses.

G. (Senior.) Shakspeare.

1900-I. Rolfe Edition of Hamlet; "Othello;" "Merchant of Venice;" "King Lear;" "King Henry IV," Part I; "As You Like It;"

"Tempest," and Dowden's "Shakspeare Primer" will be studied.

This course is required in the Literary, elective in the Junior and Senior years of the Scientific, Classical and Philosophical Courses.

MATHEMATICS.

PROFESSOR LEHMAN.

- B. (Middle Preparatory.)—Taylor's Academic Algebra. Fall term to page 119; winter term, to page 222; spring term, to page 283.
 - C. (Senior Preparatory.)—Plane and Solid Geometry, Phillips and Fisher. Fall term, books I-III; winter term, books IV-VI; spring term, books VII, VIII and IX.
 - D. (Freshman.)—Algebra and Trigonometry. Fall term, probably Taylor's College Algebra, pages 78-223; winter term, Idem, pages 224-363; spring term, Well's New Plane and Spherical Trigonometry.
 - E. (Sophomore.)—Analytic Geometry and Calculus. Fall term, Analytic Geometry, probably Wentworth; winter term Differential Calculus; spring term, Integral Calculus, probably Osborne.
 - 1900-1. FA. (First Junior.)—Fall and winter terms, Differential Equations. Johnson's Treatise will be used. Spring term, Analytical Mechanics.
 - 1899-1900. FB. (Second Junior.)—Fall term, Surveying; winter and spring terms, Young's General Astronomy.
- The deductive science of mathematics should be pursued regularly and continuously.

NORMAL.

1st Year.—Instruction in the common branches will be given continually with regularity and system. An opportunity is thus afforded for those who desire to review studies for teachers' examinations; for those whose education for any cause is deficient in some or all branches of common school studies, who may wish to supply their lack under the very best conditions; for those who have entered upon one or the other of the courses of study, who may in addition desire to do more work in the common branches; also for those who wish to take the Normal Course. The studies are those upon which a person is examined for a teacher's common school certificate and no other.

Reading.—The Heart of Oak series, No. IV, will be used, supplemented by readings of the best authors.

Writing.—The Spencerian system of writing, its principles and practice, will be taught. This course in writing will not aim at making the ornate penmanship of the professional penmanship schools, but at teaching right forms and improving the natural hand. It may be pursued for two years or even more if desired.

Spelling.—Spelling will be taught both by rules and by dictation and correction of lists.

Orthography.—Orthography will be so taught that a student entering at any term of the year will find the class at a point where he can advantageously begin.

Arithmetic.—Arithmetic will extend throughout the entire year. The text used will be White's. If practicable, during the year, additional texts may be used for those desiring to take advanced work in Arithmetic. A separate class for advanced students will be formed if necessary.

English Grammar.—The text used will be Reed and Kellogg's Lessons in Higher English. Any one, by beginning at the opening of the year, can master the study as rapidly as the class advances. Diagraming is taught in connection with the analysis of sentences.

United States History.—Fiske's History of the United States. This study will continue through the year, three recitations per week.

Civics.—Will be taught in connection with History Eb. twice a week, fall and winter terms.

Geography.—The Eclectic series of geographies are in use. This branch will cover the entire subject during the year, recitations twice each week.

Physiology.—In fall term, Martin's Human Body will be the text; in the winter the same study and same text will be begun again and the course repeated. By this means a student who wishes to do so can get Physiology either term, or can review it during the same year.

Theory and Practice.—In the fall term, DeGraff's School Room Guide will be the text; in the winter, Thring's Theory and Practice; in the spring, Baldwin's Applied Psychology. The texts are not specially related to each other, but each one contains instruction on the Theory and Practice of Teaching. Any one term of this work will suffice, and it will matter not much which of the terms is taken; hence a student can enter at any term. Likewise, if a student desire, he can take several terms of it, thereby gaining the advantage of suggestions from several texts, and the general review of the subject involved in studying two or three books.

SECOND YEAR.

Mathematics B.—In fall term, Taylor's Academic Algebra to page 119; in the winter term, the same work is continued to page 222; in the spring, the same text is used, and work carried to page 292.

1899-1900. History Ea. In the fall term, Introduction to the Middle Ages, Emerton; in the winter, Montgomery's History of France; in the spring, Montgomery's History of England.

1900-1. History Eb.—In the fall term, the Colonies, Thwaites; in the winter, Formation of the Union, Hart; in the spring, Wilson's Division and Reunion. Throughout this course special attention will be given to the sources, formation and growth of the Constitution, and to the history of political parties. Students who spend more than one year at Normal work may take both courses.

1899-1900. Pedagogy F.—In the fall and winter terms, Compayre's Lectures on Pedagogy; in the spring, the same author's History of Pedagogy.

1900-I. Pedagogy G.—In the fall, Rosenkrantz's Philosophy of Education; in the winter, De Garmo's Essentials of Method, one-half term, and Rein's Outlines of Pedagogy, one-half term; in the spring, Browning's History of Educational Theories, one-half term, and William's History of Modern Education, one-half term. Students who spend two years in the Normal work may obtain both courses.

ELECTIVES.—For the completion of the Normal course, it is further required that a student take a course selected from some one of the courses of the university. The student has the privilege of choice among all, but must use his privilege under advice of the faculty or of a member of the faculty.

PEDAGOGY.

1899-1900. F. (Junior.)—The following courses are given in Pedagogy: In the fall and winter terms, Compayre's Lectures on Pedagogy, Part I; in the spring term, History of Pedagogy, by the same author. Either this Course or Course G is required in the Normal Course, while both F and G are open as electives to students of all courses in the College Department.

1900-I. G. (Senior.)—In fall, Rosenkrantz's Philosophy of Education; in the winter, De Garmo's Essentials of Method, one-half term, and Rein's Outlines of Pedagogy, one-half term; in the spring, Browning's History of Educational Theories, one-half term, and William's History of Modern Education, one-half term. This course, or F, is required in Normal Course, and is open to students in all college courses as an elective. It will thus be possible for a student in any of the Courses to obtain two years of pedagogy if desired.

HONORARY DEGREES.

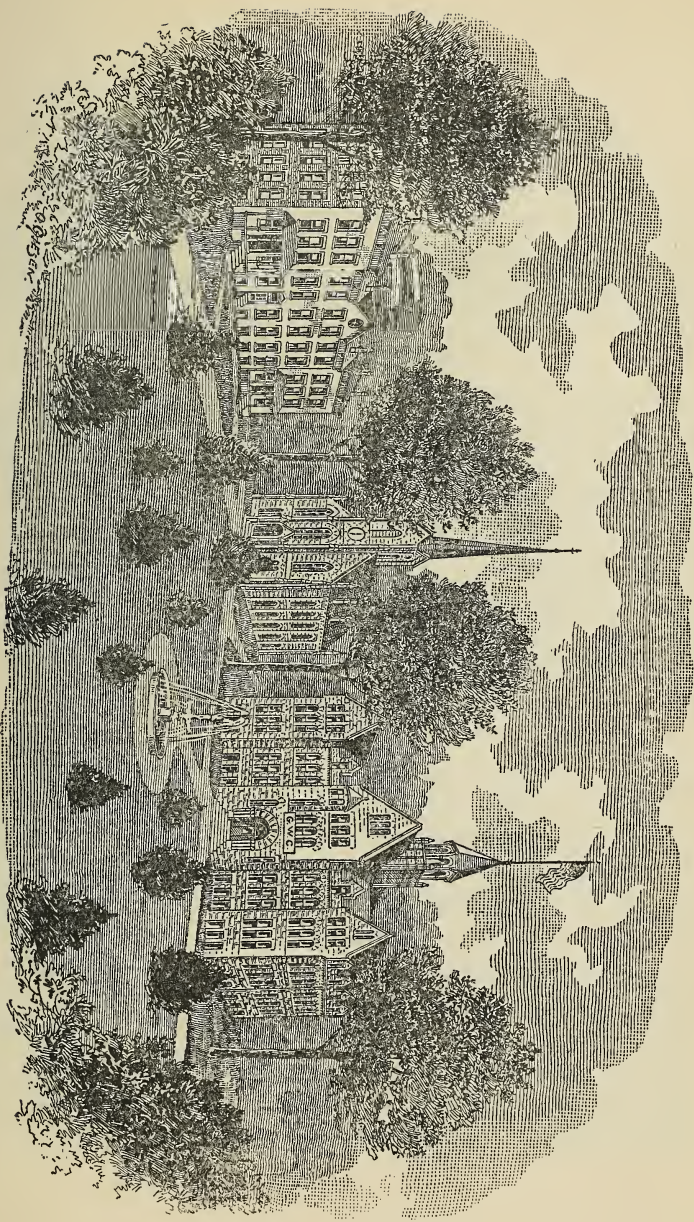

The Degree of Doctor of Philosophy will not be conferred by this institution.

The Master's degree is conferred only in cursu, and on the following conditions :

1. That no person be deemed eligible to the Master's degree unless he be a regular graduate of a reputable college with the degree of Bachelor of Arts, of Science, of Philosophy, or of Letters.

2. That after graduation as a bachelor he be required to complete an advanced Course of study of one year in residence, pass a satisfactory examination and present a thesis which shall give evidence of ability to prosecute independent investigation ; or, if residence be impracticable, that he be required to pursue and complete a prescribed two years Course of study in some one department, pass a satisfactory examination thereon, at the seat of the college, and present and maintain a thesis of at least four thousand words on some subject previously approved by the examiner, and connected with the Course of study.

The above conditions are those recommended by the College Association of the Methodist Episcopal Church, which were formally adopted by the faculty of this university as rules to govern in the cases named.

GERMAN WALLACE COLLEGE.

UNIVERSITY SCHOOL OF MUSIC.

MILLARD F. WARNER,	-	-	President.
WILLIAM C. HOWELL,	-	-	Director.

INSTRUCTORS.

MR. WILLIAM C. HOWELL,
Voice and Harmony.

MR. ALBERT RIEMENSCHNEIDER,
Piano and Organ.

PROFESSOR VICTOR WILKER,
French and German Languages.

STATEMENT.

The Baldwin University School of Music is fast becoming widely and favorably known as a school of sterling merit in the practical development of musical culture and technic. The courses of instruction represent the results of experience in every important institution of musical learning in the world. The instructors are all widely recognized as successful artists in their several departments, and bring before the student the authority and confidence of practical experience in class and concert room.

ADVANTAGES.

The nearness of Berea to Cleveland enables the student to hear all the great artists of the world. All the art resources of a great city like Cleveland can be made available for the training and culture of the students of the University.

SCHOOL CONCERTS.

Recitals are given by students of the school. A Quarterly Concert is given at the close of each term, and the Annual Concert at the close of the year. The systematic study of the works of a Master Composer, or of music of a particular period or class, for the purpose of public recital, incites the student to deeper interest and greater earnestness of purpose, as the inexhaustible wealth of material for possible conquest is systematically opened to view; and by no more efficient means may breadth of style and conception be nourished and increased.

PIANO.

Correct methods from the first lesson in piano playing are of the utmost importance. Early habits of study determine the capacity of the advanced player for good execution and artistic expression, and such habits can only be formed by the clear explanations, judicious corrections and good example of a skillful teacher.

The study of Piano-forte is one of the most important parts of a musical education. It is indispensable to the singer, as with a knowledge of the piano he can better arrive at the full meaning of a vocal composition. As a preparation to the study of Organ playing, it cannot be dispensed with. To students of composition, an acquaintance with the great works in Sonata form is absolutely necessary for the formation of style, and these can only be intelligently studied by the use of the piano. The best editions of the Studies used throughout the Piano Course have been carefully selected and placed in the Library of the School for the use of students. Piano students, in order to graduate, must have studied Harmony and Musical Expression.

PIPE ORGAN.

Baldwin University now offers to students who wish to make a study of Organ playing, advantages unsurpassed in any part of the country.

The demand for good Organists is rapidly increasing, therefore a systematic course of instruction is provided. It is the aim of the course to give instruction not only in the line of solo playing, but also with a view to fitting the pupil for practical church work.

A two-manual Pipe Organ has been placed in the College for the use of pupils.

VOICE CULTURE.

Voice training is given especial prominence and attention in this institution, particular care being taken to develop pure vowel sounds, and rich, resonant tones. The Course of Study is broad and comprehensive, giving every possible aid to the rapid and natural strengthening of the organs without forcing, and to the awakening of an artistic sense and poetic feeling in the expression of musical ideas.

The University's collection of Vocal studies is not surpassed in this country. These studies are supplied by the school Library upon payment of a small rental. In this way the students become acquainted with many valuable works without the great outlay necessary to their purchase. In addition to the Five Grades in the Vocal Course, the student is required to have studied Harmony five terms, Musical Expression two terms. Sight reading is given careful attention.

CHORAL CLASS.

The Choral Class is an organization of the students for instruction and drill in choral and church music. This class is under the direction of Professor W. C. Howell. The past year has been marked with unusual interest on the part of the students in vocal music. Whenever it is desired, classes will be formed for training in the elements of music. The expense connected with this class is merely nominal.

SPECIAL VOCAL CLASSES.

Young ladies' classes. When a sufficient number desire it, classes will be formed in vocal instruction. The work will be of an elementary kind, and consist of instruction in formation of tones, in respiration, in articulation, in sight reading. Songs and duets will be studied. See Terms, page 24.

HARMONY.

What Grammar and Syntax are to language, Theory, Harmony, etc., are to music. Without them broad musicianship is impossible, and this is the reason why no music school of repute will graduate pupils that have not acquired at least a reasonable knowledge of Harmony. The work will be pursued on broad lines. In connection with the text book, practical work will also be required.

ORCHESTRAL INSTRUMENTS.

A complete course of study, under teachers of the first rank, is provided for the Violin, the Flute, the Cornet, the Harp, the Guitar, the Zither and the Mandolin.

MUSICAL EXPRESSION.

A careful study of the Theory of Musical Expression, based upon the principles formulated by Lussy and Christiani. This course is valuable to students in all branches, and proves highly interesting and profitable, showing results of marked improvements in the playing and singing of those who complete it. All students are required to study two terms of ten lessons.

PRACTICE.

Habits of regular practice must be observed in order to gain satisfactory results. The lesson hour becomes a useless waste of time and energy unless carefully prepared for.

Missed lessons will not be excused unless excuse is granted before the lesson hour.

DIPLOMAS.

Diplomas will be conferred on students who have pursued the prescribed course. It is required that an entire programme of standard music shall be interpreted during the last term of the senior year.

In addition to the study of voice or some special instrument, the prescribed studies are as follows :

1. Harmony (five terms).
2. Musical expression (two terms).

3. Quartette, or Choral Training, sufficient to enable the student to take charge of a choir or choral organization and successfully direct their practice and musical service.

Vocal students must have mastered the Piano Course through the third grade to enable them to play accompaniments and to pursue higher theoretical studies.

CONCERTS AND RECITALS.

There will be a concert given at the end of each term, and public and private recitals by the students during each term.

CERTIFICATES.

Certificates are conferred on vocal or instrumental students who have reached the third grade of study.

Fee, $1.00.

Advanced students who do not wish to take a full course will be given a certificate. Such students must have attended three consecutive terms. Two terms in Harmony and one term in Musical Expression must be included in this course, except in cases of unusual proficiency.

VIOLIN AND VIOLA.

No instrument is so well adapted to the expression of every shade of feeling as the violin.

This school not only strives to attain technical proficiency, but broad musicianship as well.

The course of study is the Herman System. This system is used in the celebrated Royal Conservatory at Leipsic. The course is varied according to the personal needs of each student. Great care is used in the instruction of beginners.

Classes will be formed in ensemble playing and opportunities given to sufficiently advanced pupils for orchestral practice.

For advanced pupils the Études of Krenjer, Forillo, Rhode, Gavines, Danclo, Alard and David are used, together with such concert pieces as are adapted for each individual.

MANDOLIN.

This is fast becoming an attractive and popular instrument, for which the most modern and practical methods are used.

FINE ARTS.

MRS. MARY McD. SANTLEY, Instructor.

DRAWING :

- 1.—A beginners' class in freehand drawing will be organized each term.
- 2.—Careful attention will be given to advanced work in freehand drawing.
- 3.—When the season permits, a class will be formed and instruction given in outdoor sketching.

OIL PAINTING :

- 4.—Lessons from still life and in landscape painting. It will be the aim to give to each student a most thorough and patient training in seeing color, form and texture, and in the use of a technique that will reproduce the beauty and truth of nature.
- 5.—Instruction in water colors and china decoration. The school is provided with draperies and casts to draw from, without extra charge to the pupil.

Art may be taken by students in the Literary Course, and in preparatory courses, be counted towards the degree, and is elective in all other of the Courses, though in them not allowed to count towards a degree.

TERMS.

Ten lessons in drawing.....	$ 8.00
Ten lessons in oil painting.....	8.00
Ten lessons in water colors.....	8.00
Ten lessons in china decoration.....	8.00
Each lesson in outdoor sketching.....	1.00

CASE SCHOOL OF APPLIED SCIENCE.

We are able to bring the advantages of one of the foremost schools of applied science in the country within the reach of the young men who, by reason of their limited means, would be unable to pursue a four or seven years' course in the Case School itself.

By arrangement between the authorities of Case School and Baldwin University, students can pursue in Baldwin University through the Freshman year a scientific course equivalent to that in Case School, and then will be admitted to the Sophomore year of the Case School on certificate.

CHARACTER AND PURPOSE OF THE LAW SCHOOL.

The Baldwin University Law School is open to all who possess the requisite qualifications, and who are desirous of availing themselves of its advantages. Its course of instruction and training is believed to be quite as broad and thorough as that of the best Law Colleges in the country. But it has been organized and is conducted more especially for the purpose of affording young men and women who are engaged in offices and business houses during the day an opportunity to pursue a regular course of law studies under proper instruction. Its sessions are, therefore, held each week-day evening between the hours of seven and nine o'clock, each class meeting alternate evenings.

At the opening of the school year in September, 1899, it will enter upon its third year with its facilities for affording to its pupils a thorough legal training correspondingly enlarged.

Being a department of the well known and established Baldwin University has brought it within the helpful influence and secured for it the active co-operation of the University and its Faculty, and its success has been all that the University could desire, and has demonstrated that there was need for something of this kind in the city of Cleveland.

The course, which consists of three years, in all of which there will be classes the ensuing year, is designed to be sufficiently thorough to fit those who avail themselves of it for admission to the bar, and due reference has also been made to the requirements of those who may desire to pursue a course of law studies as preparatory to entering upon other professions or business avocations.

The students in this course are required to carefully read and study the text books included in the course, and instruction is given in the form of thorough examination and quizzes of the classes upon lessons previously assigned, together with oral explanations and illustrations of the various topics then presented for consideration. To this will be added occasional exercises in preparation of pleadings and in the discussion, by the students, under the supervision and direction of the Faculty, of matter of pleading and practice, and other questions of law, arising upon cases especially assigned. Courses of lectures will also be given during the year illustrative of the subjects in the prescribed course of study, by members of the University Faculty, and by distinguished members of the bench and bar.

A Junior Class will be formed at the commencement of the year, and students who have already pursued a course of law studies equivalent to that assigned to the Junior year and are able to pass a satisfactory examination, upon the same, may be admitted to advanced standing.

Students from other Law Schools may be admitted to advanced standing upon the production of a satisfactory certificate showing the period of their attendance upon such law schools and their proficiency in the studies they pursued.

Special attention will be given the Senior year toward fitting students to pass the examination for admission to the bar, and there will be much practical work in preparing pleadings, and the trial of cases before the Moot Court, which will be under the charge of the Faculty of the school.

COURSE OF STUDY.

JUNIOR YEAR.

Blackstone's Commentaries, Walker's American Law, Clark on Contracts, Norton on Bills and Notes, Hufcutt on Agency, George on Partnership, Clark Criminal Law.

MIDDLE YEAR.

Bispham's Principles of Equity, Hopkins on Real Property, McKelvey on Evidence, Schouler on Bailments, Benjamin on Sales, Cooley on Torts, Clark's Criminal Procedure.

SENIOR YEAR.

Cooley's Constitutional Law, Schouler on Wills, Clark on Corporations, Phillips on Pleading, Schouler on Domestic Relations, Practical work in Drafting Instruments and in Pleading, Ohio Statute Law, Legal Ethics, Moot Courts.

The Faculty reserve the right to modify the foregoing course of study, or to substitute other subjects or text books, at any time as they may deem proper.

CLASSES AND SCHOOL YEAR.

Each of the three years of the course will contain two terms, the first term commencing, for the coming year, on the 20th day of September, 1899, and ending on the 3rd day of February, 1900, the second term commencing on the 6th day of February, 1900, and ending on the 17th day of June, following. There will be a short vacation during the Christmas Holidays

Students on presenting proper credentials may enter the first year class, and those who have already pursued a legal course, may, upon examination or presentation of satisfactory certificates from other law schools, be given advanced standing.

QUALIFICATIONS OF STUDENTS.

Applicants for admission to any of the classes must have at least a common school education. Graduates of colleges and high schools may be admitted upon presentation of diploma, but others must satisfy the Faculty of their ability to pursue the course of study with profit to themselves and credit to the school.

No distinction is made in the admission of students on account of sex or color. The only qualifications are educational and moral fitness.

Students desiring to take certain branches of the prescribed course for special training in business or other purposes, may be permitted to enter at any time for that purpose and pursue such studies as they may elect, after satisfactory arrangements have been made.

ADVANTAGES OF LOCATION.

The City of Cleveland is noted for its many excellent schools and colleges and is rapidly becoming a great educational as well as a business center. It is easily accessible from every quarter and it is in close connection with nearly all the towns and cities of Northern Ohio. It has a large number of courts of record wherein questions embracing nearly every phase of legal principles are constantly arising, thus affording to students exceptional advantages for becoming acquainted with the application of law in all its varied forms.

Students are enabled to obtain employment in the hundreds of business houses and law offices in the city, and thus receive valuable experience, besides earning enough during the day to defray a portion, or all, of their expenses.

The school is now located in commodious quarters in the Arcade Building, one of the most central and desirable places in the city.

DIPLOMA.
